

Better Supply Of Uranium Is Promised U. S.

By FRANK CAREY
(Associated Press Science Reporter)
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Precious uranium ore for America's ever-expanding atomic program will soon be coming from two new foreign sources—South Africa and Australia—the United States revealed today in a report also disclosing substantial progress in developing improved atomic weapons during the past six months.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) in its 12th semi-annual report to Congress further disclosed that additional uranium may come from new sources in Canada—long an American supplier—and that new sources within the United States itself are nearly ready for initial production.

Tempo Speeded Up
Implying a vastly increased tempo for its entire atomic enterprise, the AEC revealed that its plans for producing atomic fissionable materials for explosives and other uses had at times been pushed even beyond their designed operating capacity—even as new ones are being built and still others are in prospect under the recently approved $3½ billion dollars expansion program.

As for the new foreign sources of raw uranium, the AEC said the first of several plants being constructed in South Africa to recover uranium from gold ores of the famous old "Rand" gold fields is nearly ready to start production.

It will be the first pay-off from a three-nation agreement—made in December 1950—whereby the United States and Britain will purchase from South Africa the by-product uranium, potential quantities of which have been described by the AEC as "relatively large because of the great quantities of (gold) ore mined."

"Rum Jungle" Field
It was the first mention of such an agreement by the AEC, although Australia disclosed in March that she had accepted an American offer to purchase uranium from the "Radium Hill" field of South Australia.

More recently, Australian officials were reported trying to interest the United States in developing Australia's so-called "Rum Jungle" uranium field—believed by Australian experts to be potentially one of the richest and most easily worked fields in the world.

The AEC's report to Congress also listed:

1. Progress in the development of atomic propulsion for aircraft—with certain phases of design and development work having gained momentum in the past half-year.
2. Continuance of a project to build a second type of atomic engine for possible use in a submarine which will house an atomic power plant of a different type.
3. Research accomplishments offering hope for the development of a powerful medicine with which to treat people severely exposed to atomic radiation.
4. Significant advances towards developing improved atomic re-

Light Vote Is Feared For Primary Election In Michigan Aug. 5

By JACK I. GREEN
LANSING — (AP) — The din of political candidates is loud in the land as Michigan braces for its "hot weather" primary election Tuesday.

Moved ahead to month to provide more time to send ballots to servicemen abroad before the November general election, the primary this year is something of a puzzle to politicians.

They fear the public is lethargic, partly due to hot summer weather and vacations and partly due to the spent feeling which followed two weeks of tense national political conventions.

The department of state's election experts figure about 600,000 persons will vote in the primary, which is about one-fourth of the state's registration and half of the

14 Are Named To Wage Board

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman has appointed 14 members of a new Wage Stabilization Board stripped of authority to deal with nationwide labor disputes. Four additional members will be named later.

The new board came into existence yesterday when the old board, headed by Nathan Feinsinger, expired. Congress ordered the old board disbanded following a controversy touched off by recommendations it made last March in an effort to settle the steel dispute.

Of the 14 members named by President Truman yesterday, only two are new. They are Chairman Archibald Cox, a Harvard law professor and one of six public members, and public member Harold L. Emerson, former professor at Whittier College and Stanford University and recently a member of the staff of defense mobilizer John R. Steelman.

The other two public members, the six labor members and the four industry members appointed yesterday are all holdovers.

Industry members include Malcolm L. Denise, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., of the Ford Motor Company.

Two more public members and two more industry members remain to be appointed.

All appointments are subject to Senate confirmation, a requirement not imposed upon members of the former board. They may serve under presidential appointment until Congress reconvenes.

About all the new board can do is recommend wage stabilization policies. All regulations it may issue to control wages must be cleared first by the economic stabilization authority headed by Roger L. Putnam.

Reduction Reported In Work Accidents

LANSING — (AP) — An estimated 5,167 workers were injured in Michigan manufacturing industries during the first four months of 1952, the state Labor Department said today.

The department said this is a reduction of 8.2 per cent from the revised estimate of 5,627 injuries during the last quarter of 1951.

The injury frequency rate of 10.2 in the first quarter of 1952 was the lowest for the 1950-52 interval and was 10.5 per cent less than the frequency rate for the last quarter of 1951.

B-29s Flatten Aluminum Mill In North Korea

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — U. S. B-29s leveled a huge Communist aluminum plant near the Manchurian border early today in the heaviest overnight raid of the Korean war.

The 63 unescorted bombers braved Red anti-aircraft fire and fighter opposition which "American pilots described as 'the heaviest in months.'" But all returned safely to their bases in Japan and Korea.

The 12½ acre factory of the Oriental Light Metals Co., 10 miles southeast of Sinuiju, went up in smoke and flame after the B-29s hurled 630 tons of bombs on it and an adjacent troop build-up area.

Five other Superforts hit other North Korean targets. The 63-plane armada which blasted the metals plant was the biggest Superfort raid of the war against a single objective.

Pilots Report Flak

Pilots reported flak from the Manchurian as well as the Korean side of the border, about four miles from the metals plant. It was the northernmost penetration of the year by B-29s.

Airman 2-C Julius W. Meintel, Wheeling, W. Va., was credited unofficially with shooting down a propeller-driven night fighter which rose to defend the sprawling target. The gunner's pilot, Lt. Richard G. Crane, Galveston, Tex., said the Red plane "blew up level with my wing."

Cot. Winton R. Close, Los Angeles, who directed the raid, said almost every other bomber was attacked by Communist fighters.

A bombardier, Capt. Ralph R. Searle, 3546 Griggs Road, Houston, Tex., said "It was like high noon all of a sudden," when "Eight searchlights locked on us at the start of the bomb run and kept with us for the longest five minutes I've ever spent."

Drive-In Postoffice Opens In Illinois

LEAF RIVER, Ill. — (AP) — A drive-in postoffice is in operation in this village of 415 persons.

Postmistress Iona M. Blair—who believes the office is the only drive-in postoffice in the nation—gives her husband, Ralph Blair, credit for designing and building the structure. The government didn't help out because the Leaf River postoffice is classified as a third class office, with the postmistress responsible for furnishing all facilities.

The Blairs thought up the drive-in idea as a convenience to both the postmistress and her customers in this north western Illinois community.

His acceptance was announced by James H. Rand, president, who said the post had been offered MacArthur nearly three years ago.

The company made no mention of the general's salary as chairman, but it was previously reported unofficially he had been offered $100,000 a year.

A company spokesman indicated the general will retain his army rank on an unassigned basis. His status will be similar to that of General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower when Eisenhower was president of Columbia University.

Formal election of MacArthur as Remington Rand chairman took place at a directors' meeting here this morning.

MacArthur said in a statement he was "delighted to have this opportunity of becoming associated with my old friend, Jim Rand, and with the company he has so ably headed. I am particularly impressed with the progressive policies of Remington Rand in the expansion of foreign markets and in the field of research and development, especially in electronics in which the company now plays a dominant role."

Remington Rand employs 36,000 people and operates 22 plants in the United States. It maintains 23 additional factories in 15 foreign countries.

Rand, who had been serving as chairman, will continue as president of the corporation.

32,000th Michigander
No. 1,000,000 is the son of Joseph Weinfeld, a tool inspector on war production work at the Hudson Motor Car Co. Waiting with the father for Art's return will be his mother, Vera, 49; his sister, Elsie, 15, and his sweetheart, Rita Beitner, 20.

At nearby Fort Wayne Weinfeld went through what 999,999 others have since outbreak of the Korean war, what 2,810,296 did in World War I, and what 10,110,194 did in World War II.

Incidentally, Art found he had a second distinction. He is the 32,000th Michigander inducted since Korean hostilities began.

Aircraft Spotters See Flying Hats

GREEN BAY, Wis. — (AP) — Two veteran aircraft spotters from the Green Bay Air Filter Center reported yesterday that two silvery objects resembling upside-down bowler hats had streaked across the sky, followed by a Jet plane.

William Vickery and Harvey Rehn were working on a milk farm near Suamico, their home town, when a B-25 bomber attracted their attention. After the bomber came the silvery objects, they told the center. The "hats" moved at terrific speed, then slowed up until the jetplane almost reached them, then rushed away again.

The Jet was identified by the CAA as a fighter out of the Ascodia Air Force Base near Alpena, Mich.

Conchies Open Training Camp

GRAND LEDGE, Mich. — (AP) — A two-week military training course for young men who do not believe in fighting will open here next Wednesday.

Attending will be 300 draft-age men from 48 states. Instead of learning how to fire guns they will acquire training to qualify for assignments to the army medical corps.

The training program has been set up by the Seventh-Day Adventist Church. It is conducted with army approval and assistance.

The program is for conscientious objectors, sometimes called "conchies." As members of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, they believe that war is "contrary to the purposes of God." But they are not motivated by fear. They are willing to serve as unarmed medical corpsmen in fighting areas. More than 400 "conchies" now are serving as medics in Korea.

The program is a rugged one built on the army's basic training program, but it omits the manual of arms. Adventist schools already have trained 3,000 in the past year. The Grand Ledge camp, which is 10 miles west of Lansing, will train those who were unable to attend these schools.

"It will be the first truly national training program since World War II, when more than 12,000 men were sent into the army medical corps from the program's classes," the church said.

Maneuvers, map reading, rescue and emergency treatment, marching and drill make up the training. Medical aspects of atomic energy will be studied in classroom sessions.

The "conchies" will pay their own expenses. They will put up $39.50 each for uniform, books, food and lodging and pay their own transportation.

Wayne Graduate, 23, Is Millionth Draftee

DETROIT — (AP) — A typical 23-year-old—neither delighted nor grieved and leaving a sweetheart behind—today became the millionth draftee since the beginning of the Korean war.

He is Arthur Weinfeld, and for a year he has been expecting this day—induction day.

With a resigned, "I might as well get it over with," Weinfeld volunteered for induction after his graduation from Wayne University in 1951. Detroit draft board 97 took up its option today.

32,000th Michigander
No. 1,000,000 is the son of Joseph Weinfeld, a tool inspector on war production work at the Hudson Motor Car Co. Waiting with the father for Art's return will be his mother, Vera, 49; his sister, Elsie, 15, and his sweetheart, Rita Beitner, 20.

At nearby Fort Wayne Weinfeld went through what 999,999 others have since outbreak of the Korean war, what 2,810,296 did in World War I, and what 10,110,194 did in World War II.

Incidentally, Art found he had a second distinction. He is the 32,000th Michigander inducted since Korean hostilities began.

As he takes his oath (about 1 p. m. EST), he swaps his draft No. 1,000,000 for an Army serial number and disappears into the anonymity of an Army fatigue uniform and beginning, with hundreds like himself, a rough-tough month of what the brass calls "basic training."

Seeks Master's Degree
Art's normal induction was delayed during his college courses. After getting his Wayne diploma, he did a year of graduate work, majoring in political science, and hopes for a military government assignment in the Army.

He hopes to complete a thesis while in service that will win him his master's degree.

Art, like most boys, has worked at odd jobs since he was 12. His family of four is roughly the size of the average American one. He lives in a modest, but tastefully furnished home on a tree-lined street, little different from thousands of others.

He went, like many another, without dramatic proclamation of eagerness to serve, but with determination to be "a good soldier—and come back home."

More Inflation Seen By Arnall In Price Boost

By WILLIAM O. VARN
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Price stabilizer Ellis Arnall predicts the new steel price boost will cost the average American family about $100 a year in higher prices.

Arnall said in a television interview that the $5.20 per ton price boost he signed reluctantly yesterday would touch off a new round of inflation.

He made it clear the steel increase was not his own choice, but was ordered by acting defense mobilizer John R. Steelman. Arnall said last night it was "a very, very bitter pill for me."

Arnall Pessimistic
Earlier in the day price control officials had said the cost of living, already at a record high, is almost certain to climb even higher because of "inevitable increases" in some major industries.

A top official said the higher steel ceilings probably will force the government to drop its hold-the-line price policy and center efforts on keeping apparently inevitable increases as small as possible.

He said it was hoped "some semblance of stabilization can be salvaged."

Officials were reluctant to disclose.

Plane Finds 4 Lost In Woods

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. — (AP) — A State Police plane this morning spotted four teen-agers—two boys and two girls—missing overnight in an Upper Peninsula forest.

The plane's pilot reported by radio that he saw the four at a campfire in the general vicinity of Black Creek Hunting Lodge 45 miles southwest of here.

All appeared unharmed, the pilot reported.

The area is the wilderness country into which the four went on a picnic lunch at 2 p. m. yesterday and vanished. They were in the Soo country with their families on a vacation.

An overnight search had failed to disclose any trace of the group.

The four are Dorothy Klinger, 14, daughter of Chester Klinger of Hinsdale, Ill.; Shirley Kasur, 13, of Chicago, and Frank Grasscott, 17, and Edward Kenyon, 14, both of Dearborn.

Immediately upon receipt of the State Police plane's report, a party of searchers arranged to go into the woods after the four.

It was believed it would be about two hours before they would be reached.

Smoke from the group's fire attracted the pilot's attention.

Woods veterans said the youngsters must have "played it smart" by staying together and starting the fire, assuming help would come.

Trooper Art Baker described the area as heavily wooded.

The families went to the Black Creek Lodge from Sugar Island, in the St. Mary's River off Sault Ste. Marie, where they have been vacationing.

Trooper Baker said it was their first trip to this mainland area in Trout Lake township of Chippewa county.

Negroes Protest White Family In Their Neighborhood

OMAHA — (AP) — Seventeen Omaha Negroes have signed a petition of protest against a white family moving into their predominantly Negro neighborhood here.

Members of the group took the petition to public defender Joseph M. Lovely yesterday and asked for his help.

Mrs. Luella Blackson, one of the signers, said the situation grew out of a white landlord's plans to move a house onto a vacant lot in the neighborhood and rent it to a white family.

"We don't have anything against them," she said. "It just wouldn't work out."

Farouk Denies He's Rich Man

By ALBURN D. WEST
ISLE OF CAPRI — (AP) — Egypt's ex-King Farouk declared today "I am no longer a rich man."

He denied he had sneaked out a fortune when he was ousted from Egypt and declared he had none tucked away in foreign banks.

Nevertheless, he added: "By the standards of the very poor, I am still to be envied."

Addressing more than 100 newsmen and photographers in the first public statement since he was toppled from his ancient Nile throne in a military revolt last Saturday, Farouk said he had made no plans about where to live out his life.

"Anyone who says I am going to the United States, England, Switzerland or Southern France, knows more than I do," he declared. For the time being, he told reporters, he intends to stay on this romantic isle off Southern Italy.

During the news conference in his hotel lobby, the playboy ex-monarch, now 32, got in a dig at General Mohamed Naguib and others who engineered his ouster. He said he wished the men who threw him out "good luck, because they'll need it."

"I hope they will not think government of a country these difficult days of war crisis is such an easy matter as might perhaps have been thought by those who are new to it," he said.

Farouk arrived here Tuesday with his wife ex-Queen Narriman, their six-month-old son, Egypt's newly-proclaimed King, Ahmed Fuad II, and three daughters by a former marriage.

The area is the wilderness country into which the four went on a picnic lunch at 2 p. m. yesterday and vanished. They were in the Soo country with their families on a vacation.

State Will Expand Higgins Nursery

LANSING — (AP) — Plans for a 50 per cent expansion of its Higgins Lake nursery were announced today by the state conservation department.

The department said 15 additional acres of land are being cleared and will be added to the present 30 acre tract, the new area probably will be in operation next year, depending on the availability of piping for the irrigation system.

The expansion is planned, the department said, to better handle the demand for red, white and jack pine seedlings.

Treasury Boosts Interest Rates

WASHINGTON — (AP) — For the first time in more than 20 years, the treasury is going to pay as much as two per cent interest on money borrowed for a one-year period.

One-year certificates bearing that rate were offered in exchange yesterday to holders of $2,415,648,000 in two series of 11-month, one-and-seven-eighths per cent certificates that fall due Aug. 15 and Sept. 1, respectively.

The move to the higher interest level was attributed to the "neutrality" policy being followed by the federal reserve to keep money tight and check inflation.

Square Inch Of Land Costs $50

CHESTERTON, Ind. — (AP) — Chesterton sold one square inch of land next to its fire station at auction last night for $50.

Army Officer Held By Police At Marquette

MARQUETTE, Mich. — (AP) — An Army officer from Camp McCoy, Wis., recently returned from combat service in Korea, is being held in the Marquette county jail charged with the fatal shooting early this morning of a former Michigan state policeman.

The officer, Lt. Coleman A. Peterson, 38, a native of Chicago, was remanded to the county jail without bail following appearance shortly noon today before Municipal Judge Edward H. Dembow-ski.

The judge set 9 a. m. next Thursday morning, Aug. 7, as the time and date for preliminary hearing.

Peterson is charged with the first-degree murder of Maurice K. (Mike) Chenoweth, operator of a tavern at Big Bay, lumber town 30 miles north of here.

State police said Peterson, who returned to the states from Korea last March, shot Chenoweth with a German Luger pistol at the tavern after his wife, Charlotte, 41, told him she had been assaulted and raped during the night by Chenoweth.

Examination of Mrs. Peterson by a jail physician failed to establish that she had been raped. However, Coroner Marvin P. Fassbender said a doctor's examination is being conducted to determine whether Chenoweth had been sterilized.

Living In Trailer
Peterson was stationed with an anti-aircraft artillery unit at the Army artillery range set up last year at Big Bay. He and his wife lived in a house trailer nearby.

State police gave this account of the shooting:

Peterson's wife went to the tavern last night to purchase beer to take back to the trailer camp, and Chenoweth offered to drive her home. On the way, she said, Chenoweth assaulted and raped her.

In tears, she told her husband, who picked up his gun and went to the tavern. There he fired several shots at Chenoweth, striking him in the stomach, chest and right arm. There were a dozen or more patrons in the tavern at the time of the shooting, which occurred about 12:30 a. m.

Peterson then went to Deputy Sheriff Fred Marsh in Big Bay and gave himself up. He said he had killed a man and told Marsh to call state police. Officers from the Marquette state police post, with Undersheriffs Adrian Pequet and Ernie Bennetts, went to Big Bay to bring the Army officer to Marquette.

Peterson is expected to be arraigned, probably on a first degree murder charge, in Marquette municipal court sometime today.

Served In Marines
His wife was examined by Dr. C. Le Golyan, jail physician, but results of the examination were not immediately known.

Chenoweth, 48, was co-owner of the Lumberjack Tavern, scene of the shooting.

Peterson was stationed with B Battery, 768th AAA Battalion at Camp McCoy.

German Young Couple's Freedom Expectations Fulfilled In America

By JANIS BERGMAN

Hans Muehlhaus, 27, his blonde wife, Elizabeth, and their 13 month old daughter Gabriel from Germany have been in the United States almost a month—and so far it's lived up to all their expectations.

The Muehlhaus family left their home in Oldenburg, Germany, to live in Escanaba under the sponsorship of Hans' uncle, John Muehlhaus, Ford River Road, where they are staying.

Oldenburg is near Bremen, a big wartime industrial city and in the British zone of occupation. Mr. Muehlhaus explained that the British were liberal enough but that every German family he knew wished to be independent.

"The Russians could keep their zone, but the Germans can govern western Germany," Hans Muehlhaus believes.

Muehlhaus and his family decided to come to this country because of the "freedom of it all," and because his uncle wanted to have them here where they'd have more opportunities.

He only made $65 a month working in an insurance office in Oldenburg. It wasn't bad pay, there just wasn't enough of it, he says. The older person is in his town of 120,000 population, the higher the wage rate. Of course, Mr. Muehlhaus has hastened to add, foodstuffs, clothing and other necessities were available if one had enough money to buy. He and his wife received supplemental packages from his wife's people on the farm.

Growing up in Hitler's Germany wasn't a thing one wants to remember, Mr. Muehlhaus commented. His schooling consisted of grade school level training and English classes.

Was English Prisoner

He also was a compulsory member of Hitler's Youth army through the early '40s, but went to meetings as little as he dared. He served in the German army through its fiasco in Russia. His impression of the Russians is one of intense dislike. An abundance of British idioms was picked up by Muehlhaus during his three year sojourn in England as a prisoner of war. "But, that English isn't much like yours," he emphatically decided. His wife doesn't speak English.

Meanwhile, back in Oldenburg, he had left his wife who lived on a farm near his home. They'd met at a yearly festival just before he'd gone off to war.

Germans Want Peace

Coming back to post-war Germany in 1948, Muehlhaus found the cities that were once industrial for Germany's benefit, are now paying back reparations. Muehlhaus feels that these reparations of coal and food that go to other countries would help the German people to be an independent nation more readily.

"The German people are fed up with war. They want peace and independence," Muehlhaus said. "But perhaps if the western zone were a free country, the Communists would overrun that too." In his town there were few Communists.

For pleasure the young Muehlhaus would go to shows—English, American and German films—when their budget would permit. That, he ruefully admits, was about twice a month. Stage shows, opera and the like, were few and far between. They often went on bicycle trips to the country for picnics; cars were a luxury for any German.

Little Gabriel was born in Germany, but her parents are determined to stay here in Escanaba where "people are so nice" and where there's the essential "freedom of it all."

With his clerical experience, Hans hopes he will be able to find office employment here. Meanwhile he is working for his uncle.

Cornell Gets Phone Service

Telephone service to 110 subscribers was put into operation at Cornell last night, during which the Cornell Lions Club staged a community party in celebration of the occasion. About 250 persons attended the affair in the Cornell town hall.

Supervisor Fred Holmes pushed the button that signalled the installation of fuses completing the new circuit and Charles Harrison, who has resided in Cornell for 56 years, placed the first telephone call. He called his granddaughter, Ellen Harrison, who lives in Milwaukee.

Mrs. Dorothy Woodard, township clerk, accepted the new exchange upon behalf of the subscribers and August Lundgaard, mayor emeritus of Cornell, was toastmaster of the banquet.

In addition to the Cornell folks who were on hand for the occasion, Michigan Bell Telephone company was represented by a number of its officials, included among them Jack Farley, division commercial supervisor, Menominee, William C. Holmes, commercial agent, Menominee, Bernie Beaufait, division traffic manager, Menominee; and Mrs. Louis Swift, commercial supervisor, Escanaba.

State 4-H Show Slated Aug. 26

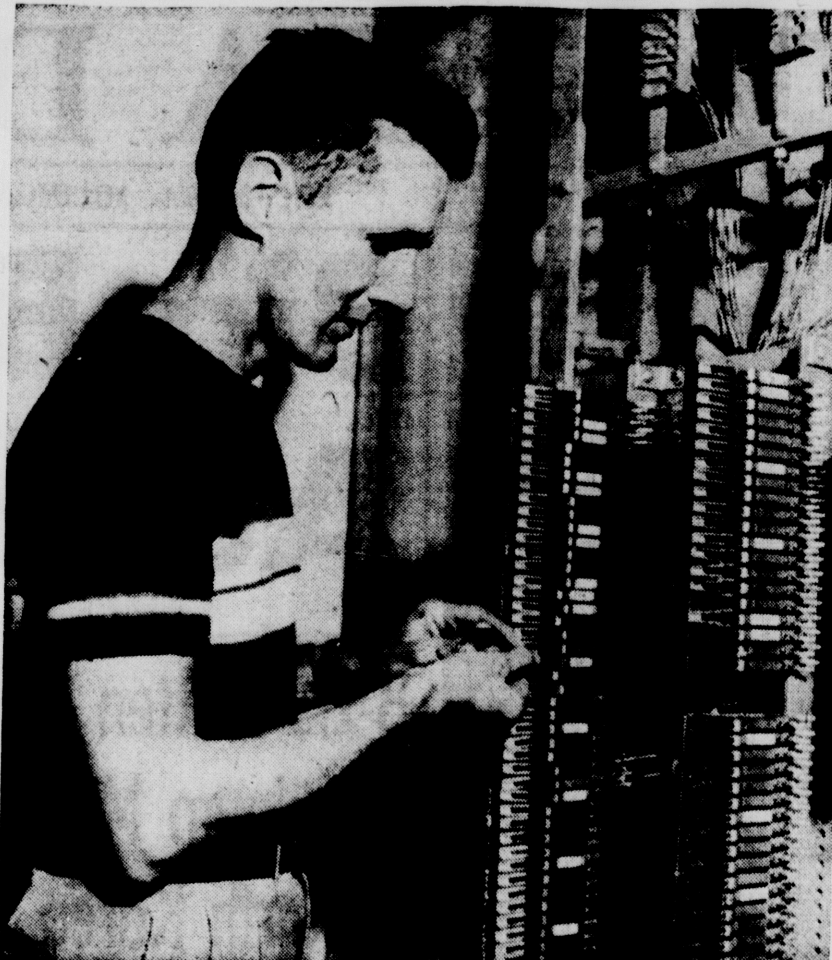

EAST LANSING—Whether it's raising a fat hog, pitching a low curve on a softball diamond, or turning out a pan of tender muffins—Michigan 4-H youth will have their talents on parade the last week in August.

Plans for the 37th annual State 4-H Club Show on the campus of Michigan State College are set for Aug. 25 through 29, according to Verne Freeman, acting state 4-H Club leader.

More than 500 classes of competition will attract contestants from all over the state. About 2,000 members are expected to be on the MSC campus for the full week. Many more will be on hand for just one day. Housing facilities will be available in Shaw Hall on the campus, Freeman said.

Money premiums and top honors are goals for members who will exhibit their year's project work. Highest honors will go to two boys and two girls in the achievement booth class. They will earn trips to the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, D. C., next year. Other members will participate in national competition after coping highest honors at the State Show.

Last week training and eliminations were held at Gaylord for members in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula. On July 28, a week-long 4-H Club Week got under way at Camp Shaw in

Forsyth, Candidate For Congress, Here On Campaign Tour

William B. Forsyth, Republican candidate seeking nomination from the 11th congressional district, today was in Escanaba after completing a pre-primary campaign tour of the Upper Peninsula. His home is at Gaylord, where he owns and operates a clothing store. His background includes experience in farming and in industry. For five years he owned and operated his own farm in Schoolcraft county.

He is a graduate of Temple

University and completed studies in law, chemistry and engineering. The Forsyths have three sons, all veterans of World War II. Mrs. Forsyth, a registered nurse, is active in work for the benefit of tuberculosis patients at the state sanatorium in Gaylord.

Bids Taken On Delta Road Job

The Escanaba office of the state highway department let three contracts Tuesday for improvement of roads in the Upper Peninsula.

One Delta county project included in the three jobs was the paving of bituminous aggregate surface on 3.485 miles of county road 416 from the Cornell road west.

The contract was awarded to Company of Alpena, Mich., on the East Shore Asphalt Paving Company, on their bid of $27,255. Bids for the work were also submitted by The Hicks Company of Alma, Payne and Dolan of Wisconsin, Inc., of Milwaukee, and by the Thornton Construction Company of Hancock.

The other projects and winning bidders:

Grading, drainage structures and 40-foot concrete paving pavement on 0.569 mile on M-26 into Lake Linden in Houghton county—to the Thornton Construction Company of Hancock for $125,231.47 with bids also entered by the Bacco Construction Company of Iron Mountain and the Fox Valley Construction Company of Appleton, Wis.

Grading, drainage structures and 21-foot aggregate surface on 5.35 miles of county road 651 from the Barage county line to the village of Tapiola in Houghton county—to the LaBrecque-Pearce Construction Company of Houghton for $111,986.53. Other firms which bid on the project were the Bacco Construction of Iron Mountain, the Thornton Construction Company of Hancock and the Fox Valley Construction Company of Appleton.

Veterans Can Now Apply Here For Musterina-Out Pay

The local office of veterans' affairs has just received a supply of application blanks for federal musterina-out pay authorized for servicemen who were separated from the armed forces since June 25, 1950.

All eligible veterans can make application immediately for the benefits at the VA office, 1221 Ludington St.

Those eligible for payments, according to OVA official Mary Wagner, are all enlisted men and officers below the ranks of major and lieutenant commander who were discharged or released from military service under honorable conditions since June 25, 1950.

The payments due veterans under the federal legislation are: $100 for veterans with less than 60 days of active duty, $200 for those with 60 days or more of service but with no overseas duty, and $300 for veterans with 60 days or more of active duty outside the United States or in Alaska.

The deadline for filing application for the benefits is July 16, 1954.

Junior Co-op Camp Opens At Farmer's Lake

ROCK—The Junior Co-Op Summer Camp at Farmer's Lake, under the direction of the Northland area co-ops, opened Sunday, July 27, and will continue through August 3, with children from 8 to 11 in attendance.

The boys and girls who are attending from Rock are Celia Aalto, Karen Auer, Helen Helenius, Gary Johnson, Michael and Carol Kiiskinen, Diane Linjala, Kenneth and Marvin Ranta and John Sepanen.

Ida Lauri of Superior and Ramona Mittelsdorf of Osceola, Wis. are the teachers in charge of the camp classes and projects. Edwin Johnson, who recently completed a Red Cross life saving course in Gladstone, has been employed as life guard. Others employed at the summer camp are John Maki, manager, Mrs. John Maki, cook, and Mary Sambakka, assistant cook.

In addition to the regular recreational games and sports, classes in handwork make up a large part of the program. Some of these are work with sea shells, leather, making puppets, plaques and miniature animals from clay. August 3, which is the closing day for the Junior camp is also the opening day for the Youth camp for boys and girls from 12 to 15 years of age inclusive. All children within the age limit and interested in attending the Youth Camp are urged to fill out application blanks at the Rock Co-op Store before Sunday. One half of the tuition fee which is charged for each child is paid for by the local Co-op Store.

On Sunday afternoon, August 3, the public is invited to the camp site at Farmer's Lake for dinner. Proceeds from this will be used for the benefit of the camp.

AS WE LIVE

Selfish Husband Resents Wife's Innocent Activity

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
Most young adults must resign themselves to giving up many of their personal freedoms while their children are young and while they are getting on their feet financially. But when they reach middle age, these restraints should no longer be necessary and, as a result, they should be in a position to enjoy many of the pleasures they had to forego when they were younger. This 50-year-old woman is not finding it possible to have freedom to do as she wishes:

(Q) "I have been married almost a year to a 53-year-old man whom I love very much. I have a daughter and many friends living in town. When my husband has to go to town on business, he gets mad at me and sulks for several days if I go with him. He tells me that no wife of his is going to chase all around the country and that my place is at home while he is working. When I went to the dentist, he accused me of spending the time with a man I went with before I married him. The only place I can go that he doesn't get mad about is church. Am I wrong to want to do other things once in a while?"

(A) Your husband is selfish to expect you to sit at home all the time. You have had your days of hard work, while your family was young, and now you should have an opportunity to do some of the things you want to do.

Since you have been married for only a short time, make it clear right from the start that you have no intention of giving up your friends and relatives. So long as your home is well taken care of and you assume the other responsibilities expected of a wife, there is no reason why you shouldn't do as you please when your husband is at work.

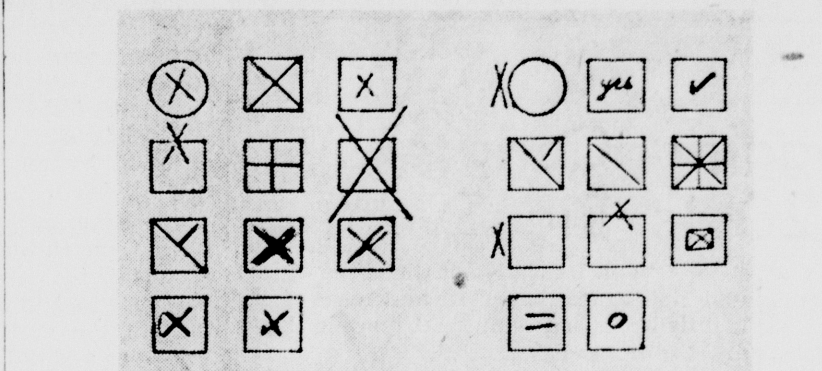

Ignore his petty jealousies. It is unfair to accuse you of flirtation but if you argue about the matter, you will make matters worse.

Also, don't tolerate his sulks. Make it clear to him that it is most unpleasant for you to live with a grown person who sulks. Then, when he starts to sulk again, pack your bag and go to your daughter's home for a visit. Tell your husband you will be glad to return to your home when he decides to grow up and act his age. A few days of loneliness should cure him.

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's great psychologists, and she will gladly help you with personal problems.

Have Your Vote Counted; Don't Spoil That Ballot

VALID MARKINGS

INVALID MARKINGS

After registering and voting you want your vote counted—but it may be thrown out unless you have properly marked your ballot in the booth.

Of first importance is the fact that in the Aug. 5 primary you will lose your vote if you split your ticket. You may vote for candidates only on one ticket. Voting for both Democratic and Republican candidates, (splitting the vote) will invalidate your vote in the primary.

Voters should also be careful in the manner in which they use the pencil in the voting booth.

May Receive Another

Avoid making any initials or scribbles of any kind on the ballot. These may be considered distinguishing marks or mutilations. Erasures and corrections, however, are not so considered.

If you do feel that you may have spoiled your ballot it is proper and legal to return the spoiled ballot to the election board and ask for a new one.

To vote for a slip or sticker candidate it is only necessary to write the name of the candidate, or paste his sticker, in the proper space on the ballot—and to follow through by placing an X in the square in front of the name.

Use Only X

Election laws are designed to aid the voter in expressing his choice, and the obvious intention of the voter is considered in determining whether a vote shall be counted.

But no marks other than crosses will be counted, so it is the responsibility of the voter to make crosses only in the squares. Circles, check marks and other marks will only invalidate your ballot.

Those who for reasons of business, illness, or absence from the city will not be able to vote at the polls on election day may vote absent voters' ballots. These ballots are obtained from the clerks

Lake States Logging Congress Here Sept. 18-20 Is Big Event

THE Lake States Logging Congress, one of the largest industrial shows in the midwest, will be held in Escanaba this year, Sept. 18-20, and if Escanaba folks grasp the opportunity that awaits them, it is possible to land this big event as an annual fixture in this community.

The Logging Congress, now in its seventh year, is sponsored by the Timber Producers Association of Upper Michigan and Wisconsin. It is an event that is growing tremendously in popularity and in

Ore Boat Whistle Is Welcome Sound

THE sound of ore boats whistling in and out of the Escanaba port again brings welcome disturbance to the slumbers of local residents.

Those who have long lived in the community have an ear tuned to the melodious sound of the freighter's whistle. To strangers the reverberating blast may be no more than noise. But to those who have grown to become a part of the community, who recognize in sound the beating of its industrial heart, the ore carrier's whistle is music to the ear.

They recall the long winters when ice-choked channels of the Great Lakes halt the flow of commerce, and the hopeful days of spring when the "first boat" arrives to break the silence and announce the opening of navigation.

Escanaba was born and grew beside a deepwater harbor. Familiar to its people since earliest days is the arrival and departure of ships in traffic representing the rich tide of commerce. The sound of ships' whistles, the sight of freighters' lights blinking across the bay, the rumble of ore trains are continued assurance of trade—of employment, wages, prosperity and growth.

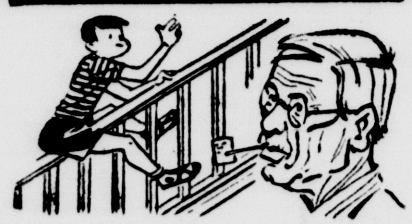

The long strike in the steel industry is now ended and shipping is resumed by the Great Lakes ore fleet. The cold and unproductive economic "winter" is past.

Yet this halt in shipping was occasioned by a strike that stopped the flow of iron ore more effectively than sub-zero temperatures and storms of January.

Full effect of the walkout of steelworkers and miners will never be known in dollars and cents loss, to the nation's economy. For the country the tally includes 21,000,000 tons of iron ore lost, for the Escanaba port 1,600,000 tons that cannot be regained.

Now the strike is over, however, and the smelters are glowing again, the mines are producing, docks are operating, and there is the welcome sound of ship's whistles from the bay. Let's hope we keep on hearing them.

UNCLE EF

The Doctor Says . . . Surgery Is Standard Treatment Of Lesion Of Cranial Nerve

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Long-lasting pain is exceedingly difficult for human beings to bear. The condition described in today's first letter is one of these.

Q—Please discuss the kind of neuralgia of the face known as tic douloureux. I am 46 years old and am bothered very badly by it. What can be done to prevent frequent attacks? How long will I have to live before it will kill me, or will it lead eventually to something else?—I. M. G. L.

A—Tic douloureux is a kind of neuralgia of one of the nerves coming out of the brain—cranial nerves. Neither the exact location of the lesion nor the cause are known. There is little reason to believe that work, diet, or anything of that sort has any direct bearing on tic douloureux, nor that changes in any of these have any definite effect on decreasing the attacks.

Treatment with medicines is not particularly satisfactory; the standard treatment for severe cases is surgery of the nerve root. The disease is not fatal, nor likely to lead to complication other than the persistence of the pain with consequent disturbance of sleep, fatigue and exhaustion. It is a most unpleasant thing.

Q—If a woman has all her reproductive organs removed due to a fibroid tumor, will she be left passionless?—Mrs. H.

A—If the ovaries were removed, there is a possibility of lessened sex drive; otherwise, the answer is "no."

Q—My son, who is in his early 20's has been having a lot of trouble with perspiring under the armpits. He hasn't been well lately, but has no signs of T. B. or A.

A—It is possible, from what you say in your letter, that the excess perspiration is a reflection of some diseased condition which has not yet been diagnosed. However, many people perspire freely, even though they are perfectly healthy.

achievement. Indicative of the scope of this undertaking is the fact that one of its highlights is an industrial parade three miles long.

Escanaba is an ideal spot for the Logging Congress. It is well located in the heart of timber country. The Upper Peninsula State Fair grounds, with the spacious exhibition building, provides an ideal facility for staging the event. And, of course, Escanaba's hotel and room accommodations, diversified services and the friendliness of Escanaba's people to their guests are other factors of importance.

As indicated above, Escanaba has the opportunity to get this big event on an annual basis. It can be done by showing the Timber Producers Association that this is THE place to hold the Logging Congress every year. We can do it by generously cooperating with the Congress committees, by letting our friendship and interest beam through to the delegates.

We should be more than casually interested in the Logging Congress and not simply because it is an event that will bring thousands of dollars to our community. We should be interested also because it is an event that has a far-reaching effect upon better timber management, upon the solution of the problems of timber producers.

No Shangri-La In Retail Trade

WHEN you walk into a department store these days, there is bustling activity all over the place. People are looking and buying and the cash registers are jingling. So it's quite natural to assume that the stores are doing exceedingly well indeed and that the storekeeper is living in something resembling an economic Shangri-La. The truth is, however, that this Shangri-La, from the store operator's viewpoint, has flaws in it—some very serious.

A short time ago a statistical summary of the financial experience of 245 department and specialty stores with gross sales totaling about $724,000,000 during the first quarter of the year was made public. For the department stores involved, net profit from merchandising operations averaged only one per cent of sales—a decline of more than 28 per cent as against the same period last year. For the specialty stores, the merchandising profits averaged 1.9 per cent of sales—a drop of 24 per cent. Forty per cent of the department stores actually sustained losses from merchandising operations during the quarter.

This poor profit performance was due primarily to reduced margins and increased operating expenses. In a word, the cost of carrying on the business has outrun the price increases consumers are always kicking about. It is common for stores to make less clear profit on an item now than when prices were far below present levels.

So, if you think the merchants are the beneficiaries of inflation and its attendant disease, think again. Like you, they are also victims.

A doctor favors a law against face lifting. If it ever goes into effect, watch the women's jaws drop.

Bandits held up a bus driver in an Illinois town. Add one more excuse for being behind schedule.

If you just remember that figures don't lie, it's a lot easier to stick to a diet.

Police found an Indiana boy of five after he had taken a five-mile stroll. Maybe mother just sent him to the store.

Frequent bathing, the use of a commercial anti-perspirant, of which there are several on the market, and the use of a mild dusting powder, is about all that can be suggested under such circumstances.

Q—Is it unhealthy to have plants in every room in the house? Could it cause a person to be tired and sleepy?—Mrs. E.S.

A—I doubt that this could cause any harm unless someone living in the house were allergic to some of the plants. Some other cause for being tired and sleepy is more probable.

Q—I am terribly afraid of storms. When a storm comes up I drop all my work and just sit in great fear. After it is over I am weak and sick. My breathing is not normal and I cannot concentrate enough to hold an intelligent conversation. My husband and friends kid me about this and have tried making me sit out on the porch with them to watch a storm go by, but this just makes things worse. Is there any advice you can give me?—Mrs. E. S.

A—This appears to be a real fear or phobia. It is doubtful that you can conquer it yourself. A psychiatrist might be able to help but since storms are not continuous, you may be able to learn to live with this one fear.

Q—Do flies carry polio?—Mrs. L. D.

A—The virus of polio has been found in flies but most people believe that the disease is spread more often by direct contact than by these pesky insects.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Shortly before Evita Peron died, U. S. relations with Argentina had reached such an all-time low that eventual withdrawal of the American ambassador was under consideration. The low point occurred July 10, with the bombing of the Abraham Lincoln library in Buenos Aires, an official U. S. library operated by the State Department's cultural division.

The American public, engrossed in political conventions, knew almost nothing about this incident. And the Argentine police appeared to know and care even less. Though the explosion injured two U. S. employees and did $15,000 worth of damage, the Argentine government merely shrugged its shoulders over the official protest of Charge d'Affaires Lester Mallory. In fact, the Argentine ministry of foreign affairs did not even answer his protest for a matter of three days.

Even in Moscow, American officials get more courteous treatment than the rude haughtiness handed out to U. S. diplomats in Argentina. Nor does the Moscow press go any further than the Argentine press in labeling Americans as "Wall Street imperialists," "Yanqui barbarians," and "warmongers."

Through all this, the State Department has continued to smile, a little stiffly it's true, and to maintain that the Peron regime was merely trying to divert domestic attention away from the sad plight of Argentine economy by taking it out on the U. S. A.

However, with the bombing of the Abraham Lincoln library and the arrival of new U. S. Ambassador Albert F. Nufer, a stiffer policy is being adopted.

Three months will be given the new ambassador to work out a more reasonable Argentine attitude toward the U. S. A. If he does not succeed, it is more than likely that he will be recalled altogether.

Note — The death of Evita Peron may change the Argentine situation radically. With the end of her tremendous hold over labor and with the Argentine economic situation worse than ever before, there is almost certain to be a clash between labor and the military.

KANSAS CITY TAX COLLECTOR

Sen. John Williams of Delaware, the man who keeps the Internal Revenue Bureau continually on the buzz saw, is going to probe further into the interesting fact that Harold A. Lockhart, the collector of internal revenue in President Truman's home town and former attorney for the President, suddenly turned up with $39,400 in cash.

Mr. Lockhart carried his large bundle of cash in 5, 10, 20, 50, and 100-dollar bills down to the Federal Reserve Bank in Kansas City on Nov. 8, 1951, just a few days before he had to fill out a Treasury questionnaire regarding his assets and income.

He explained to John Phillips Jr., vice president of the bank, that he had been keeping the money in a safe-deposit box for some years and further explained to Senator Williams on Jan. 13, 1952, that he had accumulated the cash over a period of 33 years because he had suffered a loss in a bank failure and had not trusted banks since.

Vice President Phillips of the Federal Reserve Bank reported that Lockhart's money "had the appearance of having been packaged for some time, and some national banknotes were noted which have not been issuable for circulation since 1935."

QUIZZED BY SENATOR

Senator Williams, who looked into the matter, found that the only bank failure in which Lockhart was involved occurred in 1931, about 15 years after he claimed he had started to accumulate a cash hoard. Furthermore, the failure occurred to the bank in which Lockhart claimed to have had a safe-deposit box, which would have meant that he would have had to transfer his funds to another bank when the first bank closed.

However, Lockhart, when questioned by Senator Williams, could not remember changing safe-deposit boxes. The senator also asked him why none of the bills he turned in were large-size currency. At the time the government changed the size of the bills he would have had to turn in his currency, yet Lockhart could not remember doing so. Nor could he remember changing gold certificates when the government called them in.

Later it was disclosed that Lockhart had an active bank account all during the time he claimed he was afraid to make bank deposits. Finally, Lockhart was chairman of a three-state war-bond drive in 1942, during which he was asking other people to convert cash into government bonds.

Only on Nov. 8, 1951, just before he was called upon to fill out a government questionnaire on his assets and his income did he bring in $39,400 in cash and convert it into $24,400 in Series G bonds and $15,000 in Series E bonds.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Washington, D. C. — Harold L. Ickes, wartime coordinator, felt it wouldn't be helping any situation to bring about full scale gas rationing. All this went for nothing; it was put into effect anyhow.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Vandenberg were leaving for Rock Island, Ill., where they were going to make their home.

Escanaba—Harold Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pearson, was spending a week at the Boy Scout camp in Crivitz, Wis.

Gladstone — Adolph Groleau arrived from Flint to spend a vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brodrene.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. Archie Murphy returned from a trip to Cash Bay, Ontario, Can.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Miss Julianne Pelletier of Kalamazoo was visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Julia Pelletier, 712 S. 13th St.

Escanaba—Mrs. D. A. Oliver and Miss Alma J. Suter left for a motor trip to Buffalo, N. Y., and Toronto, Ont.

Gladstone—Dr. and Mrs. H. Kasen, daughter Mildred and son Melvin, returned after visiting in lower Michigan.

"I Quit!"

Liberation Of Homeland Sought By The Leader Of U. S. Czechs

By JAY HEAVILIN

NEA Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND — (NEA) — The people of Czechoslovakia so despair of unchaining themselves from their present Communist rulers that most of them would welcome a European war of liberation. That's the opinion of Lada Kiml, an anti-Communist leader of America's 1,000,000 citizens of Czech birth or background.

Stocky, bespectacled, 57-year-old Kiml is in a position to know. Born in Czechoslovakia, he is president of the American Committee for the Liberation of Czechoslovakia, editor of a Czech-language daily newspaper here and a veteran of World War I service with the Allies in the National Czech Army. He was raised in Lidice, the village near Prague which became world famous when the Nazis obliterated it 10 years ago.

"Eighty-five per cent of the Czech people," Kiml says, "including many of the old time 'intellectual Communists,' feel that in many ways life under Red rule is worse than it was under the Germans."

Kiml says they would like to revolt. But, although the underground is active, the Soviet-trained Army is too strong.

"If we were united, there might be hope," contends Kiml sadly. "But there are many Czechs—particularly among the younger people—who have turned to Communism as a means of self-aggrandizement. Some 200,000 have joined the Straz Nardoni Bozpeknosti, or Guard of the National Security. They are the dread 'SNB' men who use terrorist methods to enforce the laws of the Communist state."

The "SNB" executes any family in whose home a weapon is found. Thus, Kiml points out, the Czech underground, though it has succeeded in harassing the Reds' war production program through sabotage, cannot by itself effect a revolution.

Letters from relatives in Czechoslovakia, Russia's richest satellite, and interviews with recently arrived DP's provide Kiml with a peephole in the Iron Curtain.

"The people do not dare write of conditions as they are or they would be shot," reports Kiml. "But always in their letters to relatives in the U. S. they speak of the weather as being very bad in an effort to tell us their hardships are great."

A tribute to the efficiency of Red censorship, says Kiml, is the fact that letters from Czechs who have kept abreast of world conditions by listening at great risk to the Voice of America make no mention of the presidential scramble, or the imprisonment of American newsmen William Oatis.

Reports received by Kiml, however, indicate the Czechs like Ike and regard the Oatis case as one of the most disgraceful blots on their nation's history.

A real estate broker who has helped many DP's to find homes in northern Ohio, Kiml has also learned that while workers in Czechoslovakia labor 10 hours a day, six days a week, volunteering 10 hours without pay on Sunday, they have less in the way of personal possessions than ever before.

"The farmer has no tools or equipment," declares Kiml. "They have been confiscated so he will fall behind his quotas and the state can take over his farm. And in the cities, the people must pay the equivalent of $5 for one pound of beef, $15 for one pound of coffee."

LADA KIML: "They speak of the weather as being very bad."

Kiml asserts that if Czechoslovakia is not liberated within the next 15 years, the once proud nation will forever be lost to Red tyranny.

"Czechoslovakia must be freed before the youngsters now being indoctrinated with Red propaganda grow up. The Czechs know this," says Kiml. "That is why they pray for war to come soon."

Bagpipe Is Scottish Regardless Of Origin

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The bagpipe, a Johnny-come-lately to Scotland according to a current Glasgow researcher, is as Scottish as plaid and kilts for a' that.

That the national musical instrument of Scotland is far older than its Scottish ties seems well established, says the National Geographic Society. It is recorded as Asiatic in origin and counted among the most ancient of music-makers.

Braving the wrath of his countrymen, the Glasgow scholar places the arrival of the bagpipe in Scotland as late as the 16th century and finds it come from Italy. There is evidence, however, that bagpipes were brought to the British Isles by Roman legionnaires, to whom the instrument was well known. Nero was reported to be an accomplished performer on one type of bagpipe. The pipes were popular with troubadours of the Middle Ages.

Not For Beginners

The Scottish people have taken the bagpipe as their own. No Highland or Lowland festival or party is complete without pipe music, and Scottish military bagpipe bands are as famous as the noted regiments to which they belong.

Much of the music written for the bagpipe is Scottish. There are three types of such music. The Ceol Beag, or Little Music, consists of dance and march tunes; the Ceol Meadhanach, or Middle Music, includes slow marches, retreats, and simple laments; and finally, the majestic Ceol Mor, or Big Music, embraces the great sonatas or concertos of bagpipe composition.

There are about 300 laments, battle hymns, and salutes that are classified as Big Music. They are not for the amateur performer or listener. The Big Music is considered by experts to be truly great national music. It consists of certain melodic lines repeated and varied with changing groupings of rhythm.

Mournful Scot

The most famous of all Highland musicians, the MacCrimmons, hereditary pipers to the MacLeods of Dunvegan on the Isle of Skye, wrote, taught, and played the Ceol Mor, scoring the simpler forms of composition.

Donald Ban MacCrimmon, one of the last and greatest of the line, composed the prophetic lament "MacCrimmon Never Will Return" before he followed Bonnie Prince Charlie in the tragic campaign of 1745 and died in the Rout of Moy.

Patrick Mor MacCrimmon had good reason for composing the touching "Lament for the Children" when seven of his eight sons died in the space of a year.

Complex Instrument

The bagpipe is a complex reed instrument consisting of an air-tight leather bag having from three to five apertures to which are affixed the tubes or pipes. In the Highland bagpipe the bag is filled with air by means of a "blow pipe" through which the piper blows air into the reservoir. In other types the bag is filled by a bellows.

The other attached pipes consist of one or more "drones" or tubes, each capable of only one note. The drones supply the constant background notes for the varied music produced by the remaining tube, the "chanter" or melody pipe, on which the piper produces the melody by fingering.

Constant pressure of air through the drones and chanter is maintained by arm pressure on the bag, which is carried under the shoulder.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

SHOW YOUR COLORS—On election days they raise the flag and keep it flying until the polls close. That's required under election law — just to show voters that casting a ballot is an American way of doing business.

But a lot of solid citizens, with solid heads, say pooh-pooh to the franchise and what's all this fuss about voting. Some of these non-voters are women and some are men, but just how many there are of each is not known.

Out to get out the vote in the primary election Aug. 5, the League of Women Voters in Escanaba is sponsoring a happy little contest in which it will be determined whether more men or more women turn out to cast ballots.

When you vote, be you man or woman, you will have an "I Voted" tab pinned on your front—white with true blue for the men, white with patriot's red for the ladies.

Red, white and blue. The same colors that adorn the flag flying above the polling place. By voting you wear a bit of it on you.

WHO WILL WIN—The League of Women Voters will keep tabs on those tabs, of course, for the purpose of the contest is to determine whether the men or the women are the better voting citizens.

It should be pointed out immediately, before there is misunderstanding on the part of the males, that the women of the League are not militant women's rights women. Fact is they have the cooperation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the "Get Out the Vote" drive.

And it might be added that no prizes will be awarded to the winners in the voting contest—except a good citizenship feeling that can be worn with pride everywhere.

DEAD VOTERS—The Boy Scouts (also non-feminine in membership) is assisting the League of Women Voters in the contest by helping hand out "I Voted" tabs at the city's nine polling precincts.

While there will be a feeling of rivalry between the men and women voters on election day, and the contest result may cause the better half to chortle "I told you so", the accomplishment will be beneficial to everyone concerned.

For everyone wins when he votes, even if he loses his particular candidate or party.

Certainly no Escanaban will want to place himself in the category of a "dead voter" such as City Clerk George Harvey periodically culls from the registration list.

Some of these voters have actually departed to the sweet land where politics and elections are unknown and unnecessary; others failed to vote after registering and under the law after two years they become "dead" so far as active citizenship is concerned.

FIGURES DON'T LIE—You can't vote unless you're registered, of course, but if all the voters in Escanaba voted who are registered it would be a total of 7,489.

How many persons will vote in Escanaba on Aug. 5? My guess would be a total of about 3,000—which would allow 4,489 citizens to sit home and count their American blessings.

The League of Women Voters, being more optimistic than I am, has a total of 4,000 "I Voted" tabs ready to pin on the voters. Two thousand for each sex. No discrimination, you see. Equal rights for the men, too.

Women are always more hopeful than men, and besides the League has some figures to back up its 4,000 figures.

In 1948, the last presidential election year, only 1,941 Escanabans voted in the primary. Then two years ago in what is called the "off-year" election the primary vote went up to 2,971—spurred by a get-out-the-vote campaign conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

POWER AND GLORY—Posters are being distributed and business advertisers are cooperating in spreading the message. And as one national advertiser cautions, never underestimate the power of a woman.

"Perhaps we won't have enough tabs for all the voters," said Mrs. Frank Neumeier, who is sparking the vote-pushers for the League. "But we can always make up some in an emergency!"

Spirit like that should be a warning to the men of the community. Unless they turn out and vote they are going to come out on the short end of the Aug. 5 contest.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

EVERYTHING IS NOW O. K.

From the time, back in 1940, when the expression O. K. first appeared in public print, any number of stories have been circulated, all asserted to be its true source.

The one that received the widest acceptance associated O. K. with Andrew Jackson, President of the United States from 1829 to 1837. Jackson had had little formal education, and the story was, he was so illiterate that when documents were brought to him for approval, he marked them with the initials, O. K. for "Oll Korrect," all correct, satisfactory, all right. And it is from this story, baseless though it has always been, that the initials acquired the meaning that they now have all over the world.

Among Democrats in New York, where Van Buren had long been a leader, he was often spoken of as the Sage or Magician, or Wizard of Kinderhook, referring to the small town of his birth, Old Kinderhook, N. Y. When he was nominated for the Presidency in 1839 groups of his supporters all over the country formed themselves into clubs. Among them, in New York, was one which at first, remembering Van Buren's old titles, bore the name, "The Democratic Old Kinderhook Club." This name was soon found too long, and so Professor Reed discovered through long buried records, someone abbreviated it to "The Democratic O. K. Club."

Flying Saucers May Be Tom Swift's Invention

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—It must be Tom Swift.

Yes, who else could it be but fun-loving Tom Swift, flying those flying saucers around?

You remember Tom, the all-American boy inventor. He took up where Thomas Edison left off. The Horatio Alger heroes were scheming opportunists, the Rover Boys were juvenile hobos, and Frank Merriwell was a tramp athlete compared to Tom Swift, the dedicated youthful scientist.

A generation ago he was the fictional hero of every near-sighted lad whose scrawny frame compelled him to believe in the power of brain over brawn. How they loved to read about Tom Swift and his motorcycle, Tom Swift and his glider, Tom Swift and his submarine, Tom Swift and his flying machine, Tom Swift and his pogo stick.

Tom Drops Out

Well, sometime after the end of the first World War, as best I can recall, his fans lost interest in Tom and his fantastic contraptions and began reading Ernest Hemingway and Faith Baldwin. They had learned about love, and found it more fascinating than anything Tom Swift ever had invented.

Heart-broken, Tom dropped from sight. What happened to him? It is my belief that all these years he has been secretly perfecting flying saucers, hoping with this crowning scientific achievement to win his old fans back.

Naturally, he will turn his invention over to the American government, as he did with all his earlier inventions. Right now, he's just having a little fun with the thing.

Some one of these days a tall, elderly man, not unhandsome despite his greying temples, will stride into Air Force headquarters in the Pentagon, lay a bundle of blueprints on the desk and say: "Here are the plans for my flying saucers. I give them to you as a patriotic service."

"And who are you?" will ask the chairborne eagle.

"Just Tom Swift," will come the firm but modest reply.

I hate to think what will happen then. Three Air Force cops will hit him from three sides and cart him off to a psychiatric ward, as the fine old inventor yells, "I am too, Tom Swift! I am! I am! I am!"

And that will be the end of Tom Swift and his flying saucers.

Two Major Problems

This will eliminate one of the two major problems facing the Air Force today. One of these problems is its inability to catch a flying saucer its pilots can see but don't believe in. The other is the problem in Korea: Its inability to put up a plan that will enable its pilots to close in on a Russian MIG-15 they can see and believe in—but can't catch.

The reason I believe that the flying saucers are a Tom Swift invention is that I can't understand the Air Force's attitude toward them.

It has checked some 2,000 reported sightings of "flying saucers" in the last year—25 per cent by military pilots—and says 1,600 of them can be explained as optical illusions, caused by weather conditions. Some 400 cases are still left unexplained, but the Air Force says it sees in them no pattern inimical to the United States.

What puzzles me is why, with all the thousands of American airmen in the sky in the last World War, no flying saucers were reported before 1947. Were optical illusions and weather changes invented in 1947?

Nope, I still believe there is something besides illusion to it all. If it isn't Tom Swift, then some other inventor is fooling around up there—maybe Jules Verne.

There is one other possible explanation. I heard one small girl tell it to another.

"Of course, there aren't any flying saucers," she said. "They're just like Santa Claus and the Easter Bunny—it's your father and mother, all the time."

Covered-Wagon Travel Not Quite Dead Yet
CENTRALIA, Ill.—(AP)—It took a Mattoon, Ill. couple back to pioneer days to travel 100 miles in a covered wagon. It also took them four days.
Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Reed had a hunch it would be tough. They hired a truck to take their home furnishings ahead to their new Mt. Carmel, Ill. home. They took the "hard way" because it seemed a good way to take their covered wagon relic and horse with them.
Erickson, Mrs. Adeline Ensign, Herman Swisher, L. Gray and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bessler of Newberry attended the services.

Enlistments Rise
NEW YORK—(AP)—Air Force enlistments in New York City were 1,200 during June, highest monthly total since January, 1951, said recruiting headquarters.

Worry of FALSE TEETH
Slipping or Irritating?
Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little PASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, sticky taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get PASTEETH at any drug store.

Summer Dream

By Irene Ernhart

THE STORY: Laurie French, wonders why she really came to Indiana to spend the summer. She is engaged to marry a man in New York in October, yet she doesn't miss her fiancé. She enjoys the company of her father, and a young school teacher named Steve Wyson.

The swimming hole was a deep pool half a mile downstream, where gravel had been taken out at one time. Steve had fixed up a rude diving board, weighed down at one end with sandbags. He'd hung a rope from a tree limb over the water.

The three of them were having a hilarious time. Steve was a powerful swimmer and Laurie's father was as agile as an urchin. Laurie herself put on a pretty good performance at the diving board. She felt Steve's eyes following her with admiration as she dived from the board with practiced ease.

"Whew," he said once, "you should have an audience, being able to dive like that. Where did you learn all that fancy stuff?"

"We have a pool at the place in Connecticut, and in New York we swim at the club."

"Oh," Steve's face was grim as he turned away from her and plunged into the water.

She was to come to know that look of grimness, or antagonism or whatever it was. She saw it on the faces of some of the customers who came into her father's hardware store when she first began to help out a little there.

"You don't need to come down to the store, even if we are short of help," her father protested. "Your mother would have a fit."

"But I want to," Laurie said stubbornly. Even though she knew that her mother would be horrified and Fletcher might disapprove, she found a queer sort of gratification in it. She wore an old pair of jeans and a white shirt and she got all dirty and disheveled sacking up nails and climbing up and down ladders hunting for hinges and things, but it pleased her no end when after a while people got over their antagonism toward her apparently and began to refer to her as "Louie French's girl."

It pleased her also to see the affection and respect with which people in Ridgeville regarded her father. How different her life would have been, she thought wistfully, if she had been allowed to grow up here with her father, or better still if her mother had never gotten the divorce.

Fletcher phoned in July, long distance from New York. He was going to London for the government and then to Rome. He wondered if she wasn't fed up with the "sticks" by now and ready to come home, marry him and go abroad with him.

"Of course not, Fletcher. I haven't had my visit out yet."

"Darling, I don't understand what the attraction is out there," Fletcher's usually calm voice was edged slightly with anger. "According to Emmy your father is nothing but an old bore."

"Emmy doesn't know him!"

"I'm beginning to think I don't know you," Fletcher said. His tone was definitely one of anger now. "Please Fletcher, don't be angry."

There was a long pause and then Fletcher said, "I'm sorry to be impatient, Laurie, but I miss you. Nothing's any fun without you."

After the conversation was over, Laurie thought about that one sentence. Fletcher missed her to the point of bitterness. And the appalling thing was, she didn't miss him at all.

She still was searching for the answer to the question as to why her feelings for Fletcher had undergone some sort of a change the night Steve took her to the Saturday night dance in Ridgeville. She found out a lot of things about Steve that night that she hadn't known before and one or two about herself.

Her father raised his eyebrows when he heard she was going to the dance with Steve. "And what's he going to do about Evelyn?"

"Evelyn?"

"Hasn't Steve ever mentioned Evelyn Crane to you? Why they've been practically inseparable since she came to teach here a year ago. Steve sort of took her and her little boy under his wing. She's a widow and the boy isn't too strong."

So that explained Steve's occasional evenings in town and once in a while an afternoon, Laurie thought.

She decided to wear a little white tulle evening dress to the dance. It was pretty formal, but no one would notice because it was so simply made; deceptively simple in fact, but it brought out the incredible smoothness of Laurie's shoulders.

She sensed by the way Steve's eyes flickered when she came down the stairs that the dress was right. She was sure of it when she saw the envious glances that came her way when they reached the dance. There was one girl especially, a tall blonde who seemed unable to tear her eyes away from either Laurie or the dress. She kept staring, and after a while Steve took Laurie over and introduced her. It was Evelyn Crane.

"So you're Laurie," the girl said. "Steve told me a lot about you." There was no friendliness in her smile. "You've been monopolizing him this summer. Steve's other friends have hardly seen him at all."

"I'm sorry," Laurie said. An interested little group had gathered to eavesdrop around the three of them and Laurie didn't go on.

"You must bring Laurie to the carnival at the school next week, Steve," Evelyn Crane turned back to Laurie still forcing a smile.

"Steve's putting on a magic act for the kids. My boy Johnny is just crazy about him."

Pure Drinking Water On Way For Teheran

TEHRAN—(P)—The capital's one million residents will soon be getting pure drinking water under an agreement signed by Point Four and Iranian government officials.

Under the agreement Point Four will provide $1,700,000 for the construction of a municipal chlorine water treatment plant. The money will be used to finance foreign exchange costs of machinery, equipment and supplies which cannot be purchased locally. The program, officials said, will be helpful to nearly 500,000 residents in the southern section of Tehran where unsanitary health conditions are widespread.

Most Tehran residents get their drinking water from conduits leading down from the snowcapped mountains outside the city. Tens of thousands of citizens, however, merely use the filthy water flowing in the gutters or

"jubes," in the streets for all purposes.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 16 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Britain Anticipating Scientist Shortage

LONDON — (AP) — Britain is running short of scientists, the government's advisory council on scientific policy has announced.

Warning that there will be more jobs than scientists during the next five years, the council said in a report: "We are already beginning to lose some of our good scientific men to American industry."

The report called for increased scientific educational facilities in Britain, both for the needs of the needs of government and industry.

Harvard, planned in 1636 and founded in 1639 is the oldest university in the United States.

Vows Spoken By Madonna Molloy, Anthony J. Choppa

St. Patrick's Church in Hubbard, O., white gladiolus adorning its altars, was the setting for the wedding Saturday, July 26, of Miss Madonna Mary Molloy, daughter of Mrs. Charles W. Molloy of 621 S. 14th St., Escanaba, and Anthony J. Choppa Jr., of Hubbard, son of the senior Anthony J. Choppas.

The double ring ceremony at 9 a. m. was performed by Father Robert Moorhead.

Gown of White Nylon

The bride, who was escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her brother, John Molloy of Washington, D. C., wore a gown of white nylon designed with a bouffant skirt of tulle and a long train. The bodice of nylon lace was fitted and buttoned down the back, the sleeves were long, tapering to points over the wrist and the round neckline was out lined with seed pearls. Her fingertip length veil of tulle was caught to a Juliet cap of white satin trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a prayer book on the cover of which was a white orchid and at the conclusion of the mass she placed a bouquet of white roses on the altar of the Virgin Mary.

Miss Rosemary Williams of Hubbard, the maid of honor, wore a floor length gown of Nile green brocade satin with a tulle overskirt and a Nile green Juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls. She carried yellow roses.

Arthur Clement of Hubbard was Mr. Choppa's best man.

The wedding breakfast for 75 guests was served in the American Legion Hall in Hubbard and a dinner for immediate members of the two families was served in the Casino at Masury. The reception for 300 guests was held in the Legion Hall.

Honeymoon in Canada

The newlyweds who are honeymooning in Canada will live in Hubbard where Mr. Choppa is employed by the Ohio Edison Co. The bride is a graduate of Escanaba High School and St. Vincent's School of Nursing, Chicago.

Members of the bride's family who attended the wedding were Mrs. Charles W. Molloy and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Molloy and daughters Roberta and Esther of Escanaba, Mr. and Mrs. John Molloy and Miss Mary Leahy, Washington, D. C., Mrs. Frank Will and son James, Francis Molloy and John Brady of Chicago, Mrs. Wilmer Hanson of San Antonio, Tex., and Mrs. Ward Sullivan, Neenah, Wis.

Carl Brannstroms Celebrate Their Silver Wedding

ENSIGN — Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brannstrom celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary Sunday, July 27, at their home in Ensign. Mr. and Mrs. Brannstrom, attended by Mr. and Mrs. Albin Lamberg were married in Gladstone by Dr. C. Albert Lund. They since have been residents of Ensign where they operate a farm.

The anniversary celebration was attended by over 100 persons who also took part of the buffet style lunch. A white tiered wedding cake trimmed in pink roses centered the table.

Mrs. Brannstrom and Mrs. Lamberg wore pink corsages on their blue frocks. The corsages were given to them by the Brannstrom's youngest son, Lloyd.

The Rev. Wilbert Johnson of the Calvary Lutheran Church of Rapid River gave a talk and extended congratulations from all present. Mr. and Mrs. Brannstrom received a purse and many presents.

Those from out-of-town included Mr. and Mrs. Hilding Brannstrom and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Constantino, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Forslund and family, Evanston, Ill.; Arnold J. Brannstrom, Houghton; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Groleau and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lamberg and Glenlynn, Lloyd and Sandy Lamberg, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Bosk, Escanaba; Mr. and Mrs. Sander Larson, Days River.

Annual Observance At St. Joseph's This Weekend

The annual Portiuncula indulgence may be gained at St. Joseph Church this weekend from Saturday noon through Sunday, it is announced by Father Stephen Schneider, O. F. M., pastor.

The opportunity is granted in connection with the Feast of St. Mary of the Angels, patronal feast of the little chapel of Portiuncula in Assisi, Italy, the mother church of the Franciscan Order.

The indulgence, which can be applied to help the poor souls in purgatory, may be gained as often as the faithful visit St. Joseph's Church during the weekend and pray six Our Fathers, Hail Marys, and Glories for the intentions of the Holy Father. Reception of the sacraments either this weekend or any time during the following week also is required.

This grant was first given to St. Francis, founder of the Fran-

Today's Recipes

Veal And Olive Sandwiches

Ingredients: Two 3½ ounce cans junior veal, ¼ cup pimento-stuffed olives (finely chopped), 2 tablespoons (about) mayonnaise-type salad dressing, thinly-sliced whole wheat or rye bread.

Method: Mix together well veal, olives, and salad dressing; chill. Makes 1 cup spread; use as filling between slices of bread.

Good cooks stagger cake pans on the oven rack so as to allow full circulation of hot air during baking. When the cake layers are baked the cakes should be turned out on cooling racks to prevent "sweating."

Widening Of Highway Being Urged By State

In response to a letter to the Michigan State Highway Department from the City of Gladstone requesting repairs to Ninth street which are traversed by Highways US-241 and M-35, City Manager H. J. Henrikson has received a communication from State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, Lansing, which indicates the highway department is desirous of having the thoroughfare widened to 46 feet to keep pace with annually increasing vehicular traffic.

The major portion of Commissioner Ziegler's letter to Manager Henrikson follows:

"I note your reasons for recommending temporary repairing at this time, and presume by this you mean an asphalt concrete resurface.

"Undoubtedly, some of the traffic's origin and destination is in Gladstone; there also is some traffic which comes in or goes out on M-35. However, the total traffic immediately north of Gladstone is an average for twenty-four hours throughout the year of approximately 4,000 vehicles. The average between Gladstone and Escanaba is better than 5,000 vehicles; and the average on M-35 just out of Gladstone is about 750 vehicles for twenty-four hours. There still is, therefore, a lot of traffic which goes through the City of Gladstone as through traffic.

Traffic Heavy

"If we are to presume that there will not be a depression or any setback of any kind, the traffic will continue to rise from year to year.

"The asphaltic concrete surface on the present inadequate street would cost about $25 thousand per mile, based on the 20-foot width pavement. Assuming that traffic will continue to increase, it would not be long before the present pavement width in Gladstone would be entirely inadequate. This would mean widening of the pavement in Gladstone to 46-foot width or the relocation of US-2 outside of Gladstone so that the free movement of through traffic would not be interfered with. Of course this is something which we do not want to consider, as we feel that the trunklines in the Upper Peninsula should be kept in the cities and not by-pass them.

"I trust that at an early date you will again present this pavement widening, which would mean a marked improvement to your city, to the City Council, and advise me whether or not, under the present favorable circumstances for the city a completely satisfactory job will be undertaken."

In order to increase the width to 46 feet it would be necessary to remove all trees in the boulevard strips on Ninth Street south of Delta avenue and in several places north of Delta avenue it would be necessary to remove the sidewalks, City Manager Henrikson states.

A 40-foot width could be obtained without removal of trees on the boulevard strip, according to City Manager Henrikson.

Manager Henrikson states that the new pavement on Lowrie and Railway avenues expected to lighten the load on the main highways and that a traffic check

The city manager said that a widening to 40 feet could be undertaken without difficulty, but that anything over that width would present difficulties.

They Couldn't Raze It . . .

... So They Blazed It--

The white frame house, at New Haven, Conn., seen above, was erected before the American Revolution. In those days, when men built, they built to stay. Owned by the city, it was scheduled for destruction as it was in the way of a new road. But the building was so strongly constructed that it was extremely difficult to tear down. So the city decided to burn it down, at little or no cost, while at the same time giving the fire department some practice in handling fires. In upper picture, Fire Chief Paul P. Heinz, center, left, and Deputy Chief Tom Collins, direct the "arson" preparations. Below, firemen stand by as the house goes up in flames.

with many beautiful and useful gifts.

Miss Sinneave will become the bride of Louis Waeghe on Saturday, August 2.

Party arrangements were made by Miss Grace Waeghe, Mrs. Don Weber and Mrs. Ed. Waeghe.

Out of town guests included, Mrs. Mike McMartin, Mrs. Paul Waeghe, Mrs. Raymond Waeghe and Mrs. Harold Weber, Escanaba, and Mrs. Melvin Teal, Bark River.

Eleanore Fraid, Robert MaKosky Married Saturday

Gladioli and pom poms decorated the Bethel Evangelical Free church for the marriage on Saturday of Miss Eleanore Fraid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fraid, 313 North 17th Street and Robert E. MaKosky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles MaKosky, Sr., Route one, Escanaba.

Music for the ceremony was furnished by Miss Marie Erickson, organist, and soloist was Paul Cowen, who sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The double ring candlelight service was read at 4 p. m., by Rev. Oscar Leander, pastor.

Satin bows marked the places where the guests were seated.

The bride was escorted up the white carpeted aisle by her father who gave her in marriage. The bridal gown of white nylon net over slipper satin was detailed with a bodice of chantilly lace, illusion neckline, three quarter length sleeves and tiny satin covered buttons extending down the back. The full skirt was encircled with a chantilly lace peplum. Her fingertip veil of illusion net was held in place by a sweetheart crown. Lace mitts completed her ensemble. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and baby mums. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, the bridegroom's gift.

Mrs. John Katarincic, a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor.

She wore a floor length gown of gold satin with a gold net overskirt and a short sleeved packet. Her headband consisted of braided satin and net and flowers. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers. The bridesmaids, Miss Shirley MaKosky, sister of the groom, and Henrietta Olson, cousin of the bride, wore like gowns of taffeta and net, and had matching bands of braided satin and net held in place by single flowers. Miss MaKosky's gown was orchid taffeta and Miss Olson's was peach. They carried mixed colonial bouquets.

The bridegroom had as his best man, Kilbourne Belanger an uncle of the bride. Ushering were Eugene MaKosky and Clifford Deneau.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Fraid chose a light blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of orchid lillies. The groom's mother was attired in a blue print dress with white accessories. Orchid lillies formed her corsage.

A reception for two hundred and fifty guests was held at the Unity hall in Escanaba from 6 to 8 p. m. The three tiered wedding cake was topped by the traditional miniature bride and groom and two love birds each holding a wedding ring. The cake was served by Mrs. Mirko Katarincic, and Miss Ruth Erfourth. Mrs. John Vukson of Gladstone, poured.

The couple will make their home in Gladstone following their return from a wedding to an undisclosed destination.

The bride graduated from Glad-

Alice Knows Her ABC's...

Alice is a senior in high school. Next year she'll be . . . well, she doesn't really know yet. Maybe she'll go to college, maybe she'll take a job. But whatever Alice does next year will be easier for her because of her daily newspaper. She's at the threshold of life. Soon she'll have to take more responsibilities and make decisions. The opinions and ideas Alice forms through reading the news, editorials and feature columns in her daily newspaper will guide her through life.

Alice enjoys reading her newspaper, too. It gives her all the news completely and quickly. She reads about what her friends are doing. She finds where she can buy the clothes she likes.

Yes, Alice knows her ABC's. She's learning more every day through her daily newspaper. And she'll be a better college student or worker because of her newspaper.

YOUR NEWSPAPER IS YOUR EVERY DAY PARTNER . . . SERVING YOU IN COUNTLESS WAYS.

Stevenson Made Fine Record As Governor

(This is the second of three articles on Adlai Stevenson, Democratic nominee for President.)

By WADE JONES

CHICAGO—(NEA)—When Adlai Stevenson became governor of Illinois, he started out to clean house in a state where corruption was almost the rule instead of the exception. And he succeeded, despite the fact he was working half the time with a Republican legislature.

The Commerce Commission, which regulates public utilities, had become heavily bogged down in graft. He shook it up and put it on a non-political basis.

The school system was virtually starving for lack of state help. He gave it a big boost by doubling its aid from about $30,000,000 to $60,000,000 a year.

When he came into office, Illinois' once fine highway system had lapsed into what the Federal Bureau of Roads called the worst in any major state. He pushed through gas taxes and truck license fees, despite heavy opposition of the gas and trucking lobbies, and set out on a road-building program that will put Illinois up with the best in a few years.

The state police, which had become soft and ineffectual because it was full of political appointees, was shaken up and put on a merit system.

The state hospitals had reached a notoriously low level. But changes were made and they now rank among the top 25 per cent in the country.

The recent horse-meat scandal rose up to muddy this record of solid accomplishment. But to Stevenson's credit, he dealt with the situation quickly and firmly, firing an old friend who was one of the top state officials involved as well as several others.

These increased services cost money, but the new governor cut a lot of fiscal corners where he could and the result is that the annual budget of Illinois is now only a little over $600,000,000. And that's still below what it was in 1949.

As a great admirer of the balanced budget—"the country can spend and tax itself into collapse"—Stevenson is proud of the financial accomplishments of his administration.

But he is equally happy about the way in which it was done. "In the long run," he says, "I believe you win by doing what you think is right, and explaining your reasons sensibly and straightforwardly to the voters."

"You've got to assume that the people of the state are just as able as you are to understand what's best for the state, and just as much as you do. You can't be contemptuous or tricky or condescending or secretive with the electorate."

Stevenson's modesty comes to the fore when he's asked other reasons for his accomplishments in Illinois. He gives a big share of the credit to the people he picked to help him.

He got some top flight ones like Carl Kresl, chief purchaser for Illinois, who formerly was Sears Roebuck purchasing director, and George W. Mitchell, former Federal Reserve Bank president, who as Stevenson's first finance Department director, was chief whittler on the state budget.

It was largely because he didn't want to run off and leave such people after persuading them to give up high-paying jobs to work for the state that Stevenson was so reluctant to accept the Democratic nomination for President.

In appearance Adlai Stevenson is more interesting than imposing. At 52, he is getting a little hefty around the middle. He stands 5 feet 9½ inches and wears good clothes and wears them well, with the exception of an old pair of spikeless golf shoes and very old hat which he often bursts forth in. His manner is earnest and his dark eyes alert.

He eats grilled tomatoes for breakfast and drives an ancient Cadillac with some 300,000 miles on it, works hard and does little socializing. He and his wife, the former Ellen Borden, were divorced in 1949. They have three sons, John, Borden, and Adlai, Jr.

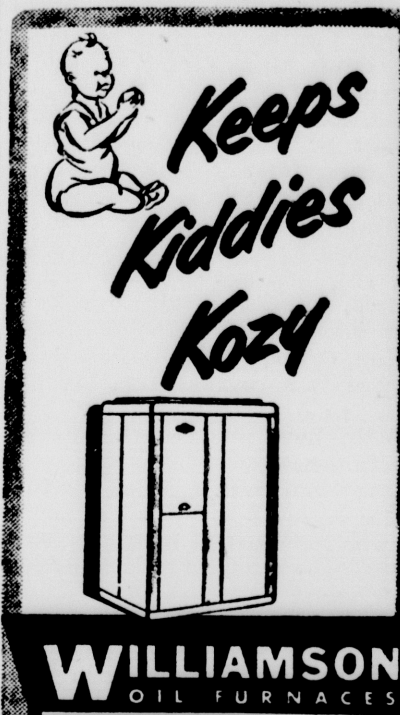

Stevenson has been called Abe Lincoln in a buttoned-down shirt. He wears buttoned-down shirts, all right, and as for the rest he has had some surprisingly close connections with Honest Abe.

Stevenson's great-grandfather on his mother's side, Jesse W. Fell, an Illinois lawyer, was a friend of Lincoln and laid the groundwork for the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates. His other great-grandfather, the first Adlai Stevenson, also an Illinoisan, knew both Fell and Lincoln and was Grover Cleveland's vice-president for one term.

The present Adlai's father was Lewis Green Stevenson, a newspaper executive and one-time secretary of state of Illinois.

Johnny Aman, the big Wallace first baseman who collected the two hits given up by Jack Chrissie in last Sunday's Tri County League game here, has been signed to a professional baseball contract by the Boston Red Sox. Aman left for the service yesterday with the July draftees. The big southpaw slugger was regarded as one of the most powerful hitters in the Tri County loop. He also doubled on the mound on occasions. He was signed by scout Maurice DeLoof.

The Upper Peninsula will be represented on the Green Bay Packers roster this season. Ray Bray, born in Caspian and a resident of Vulcan, reported to the Packers' training camp at Grand Rapids, Minn., this week. At six feet and 235 pounds, Bray is regarded as one of the top linemen in pro football. He was with the Chicago Bears for 10 seasons, joining the club in 1939. He was off three years for a service hitch during War II. He's a graduate of Western Michigan College, married and has four children. Present home is in Chicago.

New coaches are still popping up throughout the Upper Peninsula high schools. Hired recently at Vulcan was Willard Butler, a native of Vulcan who graduated from Michigan State just last month. No official announcement has been made, but it appears that Bruno Maule has the inside track at Hermansville High School, where a stepped up athletic program is anticipated. Don Hill, ex-Norway High School athlete and graduate of Northern Michigan College of Education, is in line for the assistant coaching position.

U. P.-Northern Wisconsin Tennis Tourney Aug. 9-10

Escaaba will be host to the third annual Upper Peninsula and Northern Wisconsin tennis tournament Aug. 9-10 under the direction of the city recreation department. Tournament play will be on 10 courts with the finals in all divisions held at the lighted tennis courts at Ludington Park.

There will be nine classes, as follows: Juvenile boys singles, junior boys singles, intermediate boys singles, senior men's singles, juvenile girls' singles, junior girls' singles, intermediate girls' singles, senior women's singles and doubles events.

Entry deadline is Tuesday, Aug. 5. Entries must be filed with Art Petersen, tournament manager. Entry fee of $1 will be charged for the entire meet.

Trophies will be awarded in several divisions and medals will be awarded in all divisions.

In case of rain on the scheduled tournament date the meet will be held the following weekend, Aug. 16-17.

British Swim Twins To Enter Michigan

HELSINKI — (AP) — John and Robert Wardrop, 19-year-old British twins, are going to enter the University of Michigan next spring. U. S. Olympic swimming coach Matt Mann said today.

The twins have shown promise in the high pressure Olympic competition.

Mann, swimming coach at Michigan is a native of Leeds, England. He said the Wardrop twins were not given scholarships.

"We will help them find work, of course," he said, "but the work will be self sustaining."

Mann said "I did not approach them about going to school at Michigan. They approached me last September when we had a team of Michigan swimmers on an exhibition tour of Great Britain."

Olympic Boxing Draws Criticism Of Writer

By MURRAY ROSE

HELSINKI — (AP) — This Olympic boxing tournament makes a traveling boxing writer long for Madison Square Garden, where we've seen some rank decisions handed out.

But, brother, whatever we've seen in the Garden can't hold a candle to some of the goings-on in this amateur clout carnival. This show is supposedly put on to determine the world's best amateur boxers. If you've had that idea, you're wrong.

The referees are the prima

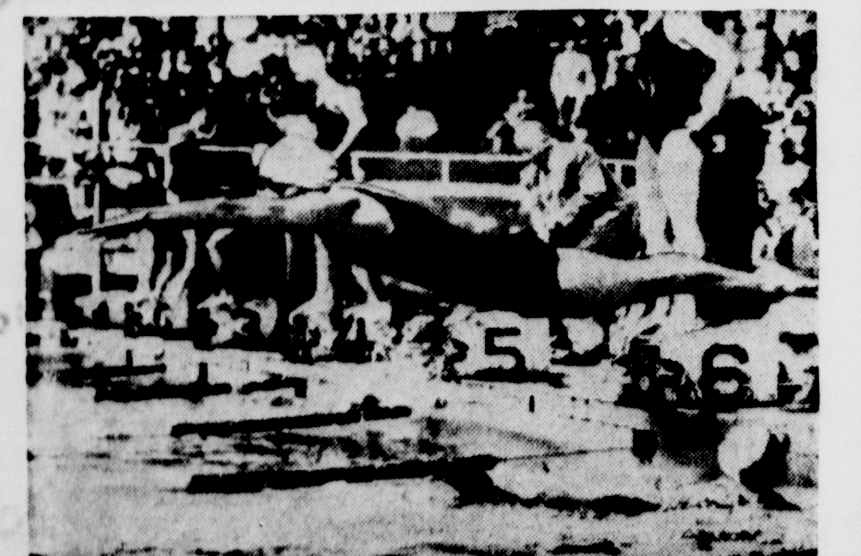

15-Year-Old Golfer Is Tournament Star

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The old and esteemed women's western amateur golf tournament enters the quarterfinal stage today, and the heroine of the affair is still a 15-year-old from West Virginia, Berri Long.

The field of eight still listed golfers of wider fame and past achievement, notably Polly Riley of Texas, Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, Pat Lesser of Seattle and Mary Lena Faulk of Georgia.

But merry Berri retains the fancy of the gallery at the Los Angeles country club. It started when she dethroned defending champion Marjorie Lindsay two days ago, and it reached the sensation stage yesterday when she defeated favored Mrs. Lyle Bowman of Richmond, Calif., the former Carol (Babe) Freese of Portland, Ore.

Miss Riley, the lone Curtis cup player left out of three starters, trimmed Peggy Rutledge, Los Angeles 3 and 2.

Harnies, Dells Post Victories

The Dells and Harnischfeger posted softball wins in American League play last night.

For the Dells it was the 11th straight victory as Phil & Ev's bowed to a last of the seventh rally. Dells trailed 2-1 going to bat for the final time. Singles by Don Scott and Bob Boyle were followed by a triple by Ray Ebli that wiped out the deficit.

Harnischfeger beat White Birch 9-7 after trailing 5-0 in the first half of the first inning. The Harnies came back to make it a 5-4 ball game in the bottom of the first.

Ken Dufresne went the route for the Dells. He allowed four hits, issued nine walks and fanned eight. Tom Brayak allowed six hits from the Phil & Ev's mound.

Leo and Franny Lancelot shared mound work for White Birch while Les Kamine went the distance for the Harnies.

In a National League game St. Thomas blanked Al's-Press 3-0 on the strength of a pair of homers by Bill Rodman and Bob Trombley. George Bartley's no-hitter was spoiled by a bunt by Red Holmes in the fourth inning. It was the only hit off the St. Thomas chucker. Cliff Larson, Al's pitcher, was nicked for five hits.

Classification Of Softball Teams At Meeting Tonight

An opening meeting of team managers, players and interested followers of softball will be held tonight at 8:30 at Memorial Field.

Classification of area softball teams for tournament purposes will be determined. Recommendations resulting from the meeting tonight will be subject to review at the U. P. Association meeting in Iron Mountain Sunday.

FAIN LEADS

DETROIT — (AP) — Philadelphia's Ferris Fain, the American League batting leader, has banged out 13 hits in his last 23 at bats (a .565 pace) to move seven points in front of Billy Goodman, Boston second baseman. Fain cracked out two safeties in three tries yesterday against the Tigers.

Monte Irvin In Starting Lineup

NEW YORK — (AP) — Monte Irvin, pronounced fit for return to duty, will get his first starting chance of the 1952 season tomorrow night when the New York Giants engage the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In making the announcement, Manager Leo Durocher said he was yielding to Irvin's plea to "get back in there" right away.

"What are you going to do with a guy like that?" asked Durocher. "Since I let him pinch hit last Sunday and he came through with a hit, he's been after me to let him play every day. Any other guy would have been out for a full year with what he had, and maybe forever. But here it is, only three months later, and he's raring to go."

"What can I do?" I've got to let him play. So he goes Friday."

It was on April 2 that Irvin suffered a multiple fracture of his right ankle while sliding into third base in an exhibition game in Denver. At the time they despaired of Monte ever playing again. At best, they said, he might be able to resume his playing career next season.

"I heal fast," said the undismayed Irvin as he lay in a hospital cot with his encased right leg supported by pulleys. "I got good bones. I'll be ready to play by Aug. 1."

He is.

Cubs Trip All-Stars 10-0 In Exhibition

The Little League all-stars faced tough opposition here last evening in the form of the Escanaba Cubs, and dropped a 10-0 exhibition tilt to the past state Little League champs.

Ricky Erickson tamed the all-stars with a two-hitter. The Cubs reached three Little League hurlers for 15 hits. Bob Stropich, Ken Schwalbach and Bob Anderson shared pitching duties.

Although outclassed by the Cubs, member of the Waubung circuit this season, the Little Leaguers were better than the Question: Why isn't baseball part of the Olympic Games program?

Answer: Because the game isn't the national sport in enough countries. No game, according to Olympic rules, may become part of the official competition unless it is generally played by eight nations.

Q. When a runner is called out for being struck by a fair ball, who gets credit for the putout?

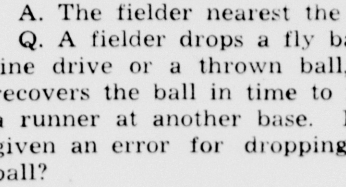

A. The fielder nearest the ball.

Q. A fielder drops a fly ball, a line drive or a thrown ball, but recovers the ball in time to force a runner at another base. Is he given an error for dropping the ball?

A. No.

Q. Did the great Eddie Plank ever pitch in the minors before moving up to the big leagues?

A. The remarkable left-hander never pitched for a minor league team, going from Gettysburg College to the Athletics with which he pitched from 1901 to 1914. He won 320 games in 17 seasons in the majors.

HELSINKI — (AP) — Tip to Hollywood: Be sure to catch the fainting Uruguayans in the Olympic basketball tournament.

They've got the greatest act since Weber and Fields. They're a riot, and they're not averse to starting 'em.

They cry. They grimace. They gripe. They even throw fists. But mainly they faint.

Their No. 1 specialist in this art is a big hatchet-faced Latin named Odessio Lombardo.

In four of the Uruguayans' last five games, Lombardo's gone into a graceful swoon at some critical stage of the conflict.

He not only picks the time, he also picks the spot. Normally it's in front of the officials' table where the audience can't miss a gasp.

He chokes for breath. He clutches his wrist. His mates work over him frantically. Then he hops up and goes hell-for-leather again.

His stand-in is Martin Acosta Y Lara. Martin faints, too, but not as often nor as gracefully as Adessio.

Wilfredo Palaez is another feinter. He feinted with a left, then clipped American Referee Vincent Farrell with a right after the boisterous game with the French Monday. He and Carlos Rosello, who had to be subdued by cops, were suspended.

Canadian Team Plays Pony League All-Stars Tonight

First appearance of a Canadian baseball team will take place at Memorial Field this evening at 7.

An indication that the Canadian brand of baseball is top flight is seen in Brampton's recent tournament record. The team defeated Escanaba and lost by close scores in two other tilts at Joliet, Ill.

Play Cubs Next

After testing the Pony Leaguers tonight, the Canadian team will try the Escanaba Cubs of the Waubung league tomorrow evening at 6 at the city diamond.

The Escanaba all-stars will send ace chucker Bob Rodman to the mound first to face the Canadians. He will be followed by Bob Hansen and Don Trotter.

Other starters will be Mike Goymerac catching, Bill Ringuette at first, Jack Carlson at second, Bob Olson at third, Dan Rousseau at short, Charles Ellington in left field, Elmer Besson in center and Jerome Doucette in right.

Three-Hit Hurler

The Canadians will also work their full pitching staff this evening, opening with star Gary Brown, who fashioned a three-hitter in the Joliet tourney.

Participation in the regional tournament climaxed Escanaba's first year in Pony League action. The Escanaba circuit is composed of six teams, the outstanding players of which have been named to the all-star squad.

The Brampton team, with two managers, arrived in Escanaba yesterday and players have been lodged with townspeople to reduce the expenses of their stay here.

Johnny Saxton Gets 31st Win

CHICAGO — (AP) — Johnny Saxton, a muscular, power-punching 23-year-old Negro from New York, will risk his undefeated record against Rocky Castellani, a classy middleweight, here on Sept. 3.

The match was in the International Boxing Club's bag even before Saxton entered the Chicago Stadium ring last night and pounded out a unanimous decision over Virgil (Honeybear) Akins of St. Louis.

It was his 31st straight triumph and Akins' first loss after four impressive knockout wins this year.

Saxton, outweighing the No. 3 lightweight contender 147 to 138, used the nine pound pull to wear Akins down starting with the sixth round. Up to that point, the St. Louis slugger with the vicious straight right smash gave the nifty New Yorker trouble.

The fight was only two minutes old when Akins, 24, caught Saxton flush to the chin with a long overhand right. Saxton went down and back on his haunches—the first time he had ever been knocked off his feet in three years of campaigning.

Johnny regained his feet in a hurry but was forced to take a mandatory eight count. It was a gruelling battle for the next five rounds before Akins appeared to tire and was literally overpowered in the final heats.

Last night's bout drew only 1,972 of which less than 1,000 were paid admissions. It was a new low for IBC stadium flistic promotions. Each fighter collected only $2,696, including $2,000 from the radio-TV pool.

Canadian Team Plays Pony League All-Stars Tonight

HELSINKI — (AP) — An American woman and a Japanese man set new Olympic swimming records today as the swimmers continued the practice of smashing a record in nearly every event.

After Japan's Shiro Hashizume had wrecked the old Olympic mark for the men's 1,500 meter freestyle swim with a time of 18 minutes, 34 seconds, Evelyn Kawamoto of Hawaii won her heat in the women's 400 meter freestyle in 5:16.6 for another new Olympic record.

Three other men also bettered the old record for the 1,500 of 19:12.4, set in 1932 by another Japanese star, K. Kitamura, but none could come close to Hashizume's time.

Miss Kawamoto broke the women's record of 5:17.8 set by Ann Curtis of the United States in 1948.

Second-fastest heat winner in the 1,500 was Brazil's Tetsuo Okamoto in 19:05.6. Jimmy McLane of New Haven, Conn., the defending champion, won his heat in 19:09.3. France's Jean Boiteux, winner of the 400-meter freestyle title in record time yesterday, was timed in 19:12.3.

Only four of the six trial heats in the 1,500 were run off this morning with two more scheduled for this afternoon. The eight best times will qualify for the finals, leaving the second American, 17-year-old William Woolsey of Honolulu on the ragged edge. Woolsey's time of 19:24.6 in finishing second to Boiteux was the eighth-best in four heats.

Hashizume didn't even have a rival near him in his record performance, winning by a full length of the 50-meter pool, and he didn't seem tired at the end.

Miss Kawamoto beat out Daphne Wilkinson of Great Britain by the barest touch in her record heat. Miss Wilkinson also was caught in the new record time of 5:16.6.

Loses Cap

Carylyn Green of Fort Lauderdale, handicapped by the loss of her swim cap at the start, placed second in another heat in 5:23.8, while Deliana Meulenkamp of Mill Valley, Calif., was fourth in another.

The fastest 16 times qualify for the semi-finals.

AFL UNIONS WIN

The AFL Unions team posted a 5-2 Pony League victory over Delta Hardware at Memorial Field yesterday afternoon in the finish of a game called Tuesday because of darkness. In a regular game Insurance Association defeated Gauthier's 9-2.

Top Pitcher In National

Roberts Wins No. 16

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Robin Roberts is proving his right to the title—best pitcher in the National League.

While Philadelphia leads the rest of the nation in going wild over little Bobby Shantz of the A's, Mr. Roberts quietly piles up wins for the Phillies. He leads the National with 16 wins after last night's 7-3 success against Cincinnati.

Like Shantz, Roberts counts on razor sharp control to put him over. Control and a strong, willing arm. First in the majors to pitch 200 innings, Roberts has allowed only 30 walks in 206 innings. That figures down roughly to one walk every seven innings.

Wild Rally
The Phils continued their surge in the National with a sixth straight over the Reds on a wild six-inning rally in the eighth. Willie Jones' three-run homer featured the attack. Willie also hit a homer in the seventh.

Brooklyn snapped its five-game losing string, shading Pittsburgh 4-3 in the 10th on Carl Furillo's first hit in 16 times at bat. The victory added a half game to the Dodger lead, now measuring 4½ games, after the runnerup Giants split a two-night doubleheader with Chicago. The Giants won the opener, 10-6, taking advantage of three Cub errors to score four in the eighth, but Hank Sauer's 25th homer helped Johnny Klippstein take the second, 6-2.

Warren Spahn cooled off the Sizzling St. Louis Cards as rookie Ed Mathews hit a two-run homer off Joe Presko for a 2-1 Boston triumph. Stan Musial's 14th homer was one of the Cards' seven hits.

Yanks, Indians Lose
The New York Yankees lost, 7-0, to Chicago but their American League lead remained at three games because Cleveland also fell before Boston, 5-4. The Red Sox triumph over Bobby Feller left them in third place only 3½ games off the pace.

Washington ended a four-game losing streak, whipping St. Louis, 6-2, on Bob Porterfield's five-hit, to pull within 5½ games of the Yanks. Allie Clark's two doubles drove in all the runs for Philadelphia in a 4-3 squeaker with Detroit.

Lou Kretlow was the boy who manhandled the Yanks after that big explosion Tuesday night. He held Mickey Mantle, the grand slam hero, without a hit. In fact, the White Sox right-hander allowed only two hits—a double by Phil Rizzuto in the third and a single by Joe Collins in the sixth.

Hoot Homers
Feller's failure was hard to take because there had been talk that manager Al Lopez might demote him from the starting four and put Steve Gromek in his place. Although Lopez denied that Feller was on trial, Bobby's 11th defeat was particularly disappointing. He gave up nine hits—four in the first two innings when the Red Sox jumped to a 4-0 lead. Feller a 22-game winner last season, has won only seven.

Winner Dick Brodowski, Al Benton and Dizzy Trout toiled for the Red Sox for a composite six-hitter. Feller hit his first homer of the year and Harry Simpson his ninth. Hoot Evers and Dick Gernert hit home runs off Feller.

Porterfield, winning his eighth, struck out 10 batters including rookie J. W. Porter, making his big league debut as a pinch-hitter in the ninth. Gordon Goldsberry homered in the first for the Browns and Eddie Yost hit one off Tommy Byrne for Washington.

Tigers Need Twin Win To Sweep A's Series

DETROIT—(AP)—The Hutchinson Hustlers—alias the Detroit Tigers under new manager Fred Hutchinson—needed a sweep of today's doubleheader to keep a record intact.

The Tigers have won every series they've played at their home ball park since Hutchinson took the manager's job July 5.

However they trailed the Philadelphia Athletics, one game to two, going into today's doubleheader. The A's took the edge yesterday with a 4-3 victory.

On paper the odds were against a doubleheader sweep.

For one thing, the Tigers must face the major leagues' winningest pitcher in the first game—left-hander Bobby Shantz, the 138-pound fastballer who has won 18 and lost only 3.

Shantz vs. Trucks
And for another, the Tigers have tried 15 times before to sweep a doubleheader. And all 15 times they failed. Seven of the doubleheaders were split and eight were lost.

Shantz was to face Virgil (No Hit) Trucks in the first game. In the second contest, Tiger rookie Billy Hoelt was to tackle the A's other ace left-hander, Alex Kellner.

Yesterday's defeat came despite the Tigers' continued sharp defensive play and steady hitting.

Hustle didn't pay off this time. The reason: Tiger strategy backfired twice.

In the first inning and again in the fifth home-run hitter Gus Zernial came to bat for the A's with runners on second and third and one out.

ning, although the Tigers rattled 12 hits off him to the A's eight.

Catcher Joe Ginsberg, often criticized because of a weak throwing arm, threw out three would-be base-stealers at second base.

Second baseman Al Federoff moved over to shortstop when Neil Berry developed an upset stomach just before game time. Johnny Pesky took over at second and had a part in all three double plays the Tigers made.

Association Race Strictly Two-Team
(By The Associated Press)
The two-team American Association leadership battle remained unchanged Wednesday night with pacesetter Kansas City keeping its one game edge over Milwaukee as each club split doubleheaders.

Tailend Charleston racked the Blues 9-6 in the opener, but Kansas City copped the closer 6-1 as Ernie Nevel uncorked a seven-hit job.

Seventh-place Columbus blanked Milwaukee 1-0 on Stu Miller's two hit pitching.

Alma Official To Speak Here

Dr. Joseph R. Harris, vice president of Alma College, Alma, Mich., will be the speaker at the 11 a. m. Sunday worship service at the Presbyterian Church, it is announced by the Rev. Paul Sobel, pastor.

Dr. Harris will speak on the subject, "Refusing To Go." The speaker is a native of Ohio, a graduate of the College of Wooster, O., Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. Co. D Prepares For Grayling Amid echoes of the Korean War and general unrest throughout the world, members of Company D, 107th Engineers, are preparing for the sixth postwar field training encampment of the Michigan National Guard, scheduled for August 16 to 30 at the Hanson State Military Reservation at Camp Grayling, it is announced by Capt. E. J. Doyle, commanding officer.

Detailed training instructions for the local Guard unit have been received from Maj. Gen. Ralph A. Loveland, commanding general at Lansing. The unsettled Korean situation, world-wide deployment and partial demobilization emphasize the National Guard's mission as a first line reserve component of the nation's armed forces, Capt. Doyle said.

With the 1952 encampment of critical importance in the Guard's training program, Capt. Doyle has asked all employers to grant two weeks' military leave to Guardsmen without loss of normal vacation pay.

The training mission for this year's encampment, according to General Loveland, "is to bring the units to a high state of efficiency, capable of functioning effectively at existing strength without further training when employed in emergencies by state and federal authorities, and to provide a trained force for rapid mobilization and expansion in time of necessity as a component of the Army of the United States."

In addition to the usual marksmanship practice on Camp Grayling's outstanding small arms and crew served weapons ranges, all units will participate in an intensive small unit tactical training program. These realistic problems will involve both defensive and offensive situations for the company sized units.

For the men who face the prospects of military service there are a number of openings in the local Guard unit for qualified men. All men who are enlisted prior to departure for camp will receive pay at regular army increased rates for the two weeks' encampment in addition to $30 in state pay, Capt. Doyle said.

Sportsmen Survey Steuben Lakes As Bluegill Supply

On investigation of lakes in the Steuben area for possible future bluegill seeding was made Tuesday evening by five members of the Schoolcraft County Sportsmen's Club.

Several lakes in the area were checked to determine if they were overstocked with bluegills. No decision on future seeding operations, however, was reached by the group.

Members of the club two weeks ago seined approximately 4,000 small bluegills from Peanut Lake near McMillan, for replanting in the northern part of Indian Lake. Sportsmen, with permission from the Michigan Department of Conservation, plan to seind only those lakes in which the bluegill population is too great for available food supply.

Those who made the Steuben expedition were Dr. C. L. Novak, club president; Lawrence Hambeau, Nels Halsey, Leo Dean and Robert Hentschell.

Tufnell-Cavil Bout Cancelled

Three new bouts on the CYO boxing program here Aug. 7 will help to offset the cancellation of the Wayne Tufnell-Dick Cavil fight, it was announced yesterday by the Rev. George Pernaski, CYO director.

Tufnell, 1952 lightweight open champion of Upper Michigan and Wisconsin, injured his hand in a softball game Sunday at Marquette and will be unable to keep his scheduled fight with Green Bay's Cavil.

The three new bouts will bring another Menominee scrapper and two Ishpeming National Guard fighters to the local arena next week.

In the 143-pound class Darryl Bertrand will take on Charles Nault, of Ishpeming, and in the 150-pound group Ray Cummings will meet Paul Boutanet, also of Ishpeming. Martin Holmberg will clash with Ronnie Sobay, of Menominee, in the 122-pound class.

Eleven bouts are now scheduled for the boxing show, which will be held as a feature of the Upper Peninsula Volunteer Firemen's Tournament.

The headline attraction will be a fight between Harvard Lancour and Bob Hanson, of Akron, O., in the 132-pound class. Lancour is 1952 lightweight novice champion of Upper Michigan and Wisconsin and Hanson is Akron novice titleholder. He is currently visiting in Menominee.

Ruark Examines Deposed Kings

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK — We note with considerable awe and envy that his very recent highness, King Faroux, has just sailed majestically into Capri on his yacht, which appears to have been loaded to the plimsoll with forty cases of delectable booze and enough tennis, golf and fishing gear to keep Fuad's bad boy amused for quite a spell.

It seems to me that in an angry, muddled world, a deposed king has the finest of all jobs. His worries are over. He generally manages to ship a packet of loot ahead of him. He is free to lounge in the sun, play golf every day, fish when it pleases him, and accrue hangovers without bothering his aching head about statecraft.

The Mediterranean is stiff with deposed monarchs today. There must be half-a-dozen in Portugal alone. They never seem to be broke or dispirited, in public, anyhow, because they fetch along the yachts and rent the biggest villas and are all the time hanging out around the crap tables at the casinos. If they have a queen they usually fetch her, too, with all the crown jewels, and they always seem to be amply staffed with equerries and valets and such.

Have It So Good
The thing about being an ex-king is that the social glamor does not wear off. Ex-kings have merely lost their responsibilities. They are still big in the society columns and as long as their dough holds, the pretty gals flock around and the champagne flows. The king business is the only dodge I know of where a guy who gets fired out of it loses neither money nor prestige, and generally acquires sympathy he never had before.

I never ran around much with any kings except a few odd cannibals with filed teeth and a high odor of rancid cocoa butter, but I used to sit and watch old Carol with envy when he was sitting out his exile in Cuba. He came away loaded with dough, and he had Lupescu and the Pekineses along, and a stiff-necked stooge to help him maintain his dignity and keep the climbers off his neck. I never saw a guy have it so good.

"WOODEN CURTAIN" FOR GERMANY — East German workers erect a long line of wooden poles along the East-West German border near Hohegeis and Braulage in the Hartz Mountain district. Communist East German government sent thousands of workers to the border to complete a 10-yard-wide "dead zone" no-man's-land. Poles are being strung with barbed wire. This picture was taken with a long-range lens when the Workers' Communist guards were out of sight.

He had the biggest suite in the Nacional and he was out to the Casino every night with his Hapsburg lip draped over the rim of a glass of Scotch. He didn't have to roll his own dice, and he didn't even have to dance with his old lady, Magda. There was always a bevy of young bucks hanging around, soaking up the free booze and panting to rip off a rumba with the king's redheaded girl friend. If his eyes got heavy somebody propped him up, and when they folded the joint they teetered him off to the royal car.

Went To The Dogs

The only come-down in his kingly existence was that he couldn't find anybody to manicure the nails of those bug-eyed little Pekes, because Cuba was having a heavy attack of dignity at that time and the help was over-endowed with ideas about the duties of servants. Carol sent for a bellhop and flung the two Pekes at him with an order to cut their nails. The bellhop drew himself up to his full five feet and spake thusly.

"Soy Cubana libre," he said. "I am a free Cuban. I do not cut the toenails of dogs. Cut them yourself, sire, but include me out."

Poor old Carol threatened to behead the whole staff, as I recall it, and then remembered he was on the lam and the royal rights no longer obtained. Wound up that he seized the scissors himself and pared the nails of those two screeching little monsters, and the Cubans killed themselves laughing.

Concerning Faroux, I doubt that the fugitive fat boy will have any trouble getting things done. His mama has masses of money stashed away in America, and Faroux himself has not been unintelligent about increasing the royal pile through polite shake-downs here and there. I just hope he controls his passions about other folks' fiancées, though. The last lad he unwomaned held still for it, but one of those fiery Italians is apt to let a little daylight through him with a shiv if the royal eye wanders too far afield. Even with that potential hazard, I still can't feel sorry for a young man with a lifetime to loaf.

Montana Becoming Colder, Expert Says

HELENA, Mont.—(AP)—Montana has grown colder and wetter during the past 10 years. Mountain glaciers have grown larger in the cold weather, and the state's growing season has shortened.

R. A. Dightman, chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau in Montana, claims Montana and the entire Northwest, is in the midst of a cyclical cold period. He has told the Montana Academy of Sciences that Weather Bureau figures show temperatures for the last 10 years have averaged 42.2 degrees in Montana, two degrees less than the previous 10 year mean. In 1937 the 10-year average moisture fall was slightly over 12 inches. In 1952 it had climbed to 15 inches.

The increased cold has brought dramatic growth to the state's glaciers, Dightman said. His figures showed that Grinnell Glacier in Glacier National Park has gained 5 feet in thickness and has extended itself 25 feet downward in the past year. Over a period of years, since its smallest area was measured at 250 acres, the glacier has grown to cover 270 acres.
